

Second Oklahoma Governor Ousted By Impeachment

Henry S. Johnston Removed From Office by Senate on "General Incompetency Charge."

CLEARED ON NINE OTHER ACCUSATIONS

Lieutenant Governor Is Immediately Sworn In. Deposed Executive Takes Verdict Impassively.

Oklahoma City, March 20.—(AP)—The second successive elected governor of Oklahoma was removed from office today by the state senate court of impeachment when that body found Henry S. Johnston guilty of a charge of general incompetency, preferred by the house of representatives. He was exonerated on nine other charges brought by the house.

J. C. Walton, Johnston's predecessor, was removed in November, 1923. W. J. Holloway, lieutenant governor, was sworn in as Johnston's successor by Chief Justice C. W. Mason of the state supreme court immediately after the senate court had completed its vote on the impeachment charges. Holloway had been acting governor since Johnston was suspended from office two months ago.

Johnston, who as late as last night expressed confidence he would be restored to office, received the verdict impassively. Mrs. Johnston, who had been at his side almost constantly during the lengthy trial, made no demonstration.

The senate vote came as a dramatic climax to more than two years of political turbulence, which reached the impeachment pitch late in 1927. At that time, however, Johnston succeeded in dispersing hostile legislation by vetoing it.

Much of the fire against the Johnston administration centered on Mrs. O. O. Hammond, whom he had established as his confidential secretary immediately after his inauguration in January, 1927. Declaring that the attack on Mrs. Hammond was an administration inspired by his administration was inspired by his administration, Johnston steadfastly refused to dismiss her.

DRY AGENT FINDS BIG LIQUOR CACHE ON LUCKIE STREET

Continuing his deadly activity against downtown liquor caches, Federal Prohibition Agent E. B. Clark late Wednesday afternoon made his third big haul of recent weeks, when search of bachelor quarters at 95 1-2 Luckie street revealed an enormous supply of the well-known forbidden beverage, hidden skillfully, but not skillfully enough, beneath trap doors which at first seemed to be ordinary closet floors.

An inventory of the seized contraband revealed the following: 271 pints of colored corn whiskey; six quarts of the same beverage; 34 pints of "imported whiskey," 15 gallons of rice in five-gallon jugs and four quarts of gin. In addition there also was found a large quantity of solving material, gin and apricot brandy flavoring and a large quantity of kegs, bottles, corks, funnels and other paraphernalia of whiskey dealers.

Agent Clark stated that he had been working on the case for some time but the raid itself was not made until Wednesday afternoon. He was accompanied by city policemen. No arrests were made.

GENERAL AGUIRRE, MEXICAN REVOLT LEADER, CAPTURED

Rebel Chieftain in State of Vera Cruz Now Faces Trial by Court-Martial Before Enemies.

Mexico City, March 20.—(AP)—An official report was received at Chapultepec castle tonight that General Jesus M. Aguirre, principal rebel leader in the state of Vera Cruz, was captured at 5:40 p. m. today at Agua Calillo, Vera Cruz.

The capture was made by General Elodoro Hernandez and General Acosta, commander of the federales in Vera Cruz, said that the prisoner was on his way to the federal headquarters camp, where he would be court-martialed.

General Aguirre's brother Simon, also a rebel leader, was captured and executed about ten days ago.

The report said that General Aguirre was found hiding in a forest after a minor engagement in which several of his followers were killed.

It also was stated that two other rebel leaders, Miguel Aleman and Brigido Escobar—the latter no relation of General Gonzalo Escobar—were killed in the engagement.

MEXICAN REBELS PREPARE TO ATTACK

Nogales, Sonora, Mexico, March 20.—(AP)—Attacks by rebels on two federal strongholds in western Mexico appeared in preparation or under way tonight. Information received here late today indicated an attack was being launched by General Manzo on Mazatlan, Sinaloa seaport town held by General Jaime Carrillo for the government. At the same time General Faust to Tepic, governor of Sonora, announced plans to proceed against Nogales, tonight or tomorrow morning.

Previous knowledge that skirmishing was in progress near Mazatlan was confirmed in a message to General Tepic from General F. R. Manzo, recently sent south to take charge of rebel troops in that region, which said simply "I am attacking Mazatlan."

General Tepic answered with:

HIGHEST HONOR OF FRANCE PAID MARSHAL FOCH

Generalissimo of Allied Armies During Great War Succumbs to Death After Grim Fight.

NATIONAL FUNERAL ACCORDED GENERAL

Body To Lie in State at Invalides Before Napoleon Tomb—Hoover Cables Nation's Regrets.

Paris, March 20.—(AP)—Ferdinand Foch, generalissimo of the allied armies in the World War, died peacefully just as the sun was going down at 5:50 o'clock this evening.

The man who led to victory the greatest aggregation of armies ever assembled, passed away quietly with his family about him, and, devout Catholic that he was, with his mind and soul at peace after his last confession to his parish priest. He was in his 77th year.

He lay tonight at rest in the field uniform of a commanding general. His face was strikingly more peaceful than at any time since death began the struggle to claim him ten weeks ago.

The great marshal will have a national funeral, an honor which has been accorded to only five Frenchmen previously. Those men were Presidents Carnot and Faure, Pasteur, the scientist; Gambetta, the statesman; and Victor Hugo, the poet.

The body will lie in state at the Invalides before the tomb of Napoleon Bonaparte. There is little doubt that Foch will be laid away in his final rest in one of the niches of the crypt where the great Corsican lies.

Foch was a marshal in the British army, an honorary title conferred on him after the armistice. Recognition of this was given immediately after his death when the government here cabled to the French ambassador in London to notify Great Britain of his passing.

HOOPER VOICES REGRETS OF NATION.

Washington, March 20.—(AP)—President Hoover in a formal statement today said he had "learned with sincere regret of the death of Marshal Foch with whom he was associated closely during the war."

The president's statement reads: "I have learned with sincere regret of the death of Marshal Foch, a man whose life was devoted to the service of his country and whose death is a national loss."

FOCH VISITED ATLANTA IN 1922.

Marshal Foch visited Atlanta in 1922 on the Georgia situation. He was greeted by a public reception committee that included Governor Thomas Hardwick, Mayor James L. Koy, and prominent Confederate and American Legion leaders.

Hailed as the hero of the world war, Marshal Foch was greeted by a distinguished array of former soldiers, members of the National Guard, and other patriotic organizations, and a group of Confederate veterans. He was the first important leader of the Allies to come to America after the armistice and Atlanta paid him royal homage.

OFFICER FATAALLY SHOT BY MOTORIST

Police Chief Met by Blazing Gun When He Tries To Halt Passing Car; Driver Escapes.

Fayetteville, N. C., March 21.—(AP)—(Thursday)—J. C. Kelly, Southern Pines police chief, died early this morning in a hospital here of wounds received when he was shot by an unidentified motorist whose car he attempted to halt.

Chief Kelly, with three bullets in his abdomen and one just below the heart, drove his automobile to a physician's house before collapsing. His assailant, after abandoning his own car and commandeering another, escaped.

In the automobile abandoned were found several license plates issued in different states, a double-edged ax and other tools. Papers in the car bore the name of J. L. Bozo. Among them was a letter, apparently from his mother, which had been mailed in Somerville, West Virginia.

The officer was on traffic duty in front of the school building here when he stopped the car, presumably to serve a summons on the driver for speeding. When he reached the car his own revolver was still in his holster and had not been fired.

Lindy and Anne Morrow Plan Wedding in June

PLACE FOR CEREMONY NOT YET NAMED

Mexico City, March 20.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and his fiancée, Miss Anne Morrow, expect to be married some time in the month of June, it is stated upon the highest authority. The place of the ceremony has not yet been decided.

Anne Morrow will be a June bride, but she and Colonel Lindbergh have not yet decided whether the marriage shall be solemnized in Mexico City or in the United States. The colonel is expected to fly back to Mexico City at least once, and maybe twice, to visit his fiancée before June.

Miss Morrow's trousseau is now being prepared, though it is not yet completed. The couple will decide nothing further before Lindbergh's return to Mexico City, which is expected to be within a few weeks.

PATRONAGE PROBE WILL COVER SOUTH

Extension of Activities by Inquiry Committee Result of Insistent Demands by Southerners.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS. Washington, March 20.—(Special). In response to insistent demands made by prominent men associated with republican activities in the south, the senate special patronage committee plans to extend its investigation into all of the southern states, according to a statement here today by Senator Smith W. Brookhart, of Iowa, republican chairman of the committee.

Authority for the more extensive inquiry was granted in a resolution offered near the close of the recent session of congress by Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia, acting at the request of the committee chairman. The committee is now empowered to go not only into appointment of postmasters and postal employees, but all federal offices, including United States judges, district attorneys, marshals and collectors of internal revenue.

Senator Brookhart said many demands have recently been received from individual leaders of the various southern states inviting the committee to examine local conditions in its inquiry. He declared it was his intention to extend the investigation to a thorough conclusion, leaving no stone unturned in the effort to wipe out patronage scandals which have long infested the federal government.

Immediate plans of the committee have not been disclosed fully, but the chairman stated that he expected to bring to Washington some time soon witnesses from the various southern states, which appear to be the next steps listed for treatment. Already the committee has conducted an investigation of postmaster appointments in South Carolina, Mississippi, Texas and Georgia, revealing a system of "contributions" from postmasters to federal officials in exchange for the retention of their positions.

Before the committee's investigation, the postmaster in Mississippi, for example, was paid $100 a month by the federal government. The committee has now ordered the postmaster to stop receiving such payments.

Report Not Filed.

While a final report has not been filed on the Georgia situation, the committee's work in the state has been completed. It only remains for recommendations to be made, which will be done, otherwise, for correction of the abuses.

Senator Brookhart recently publicly urged that the present civil service law be amended to provide for the removal of postmasters by the federal government, instead of by the local authorities.

Before the committee's investigation, the postmaster in Georgia, for example, was paid $100 a month by the federal government. The committee has now ordered the postmaster to stop receiving such payments.

It was stated tonight that Goodson's trial would probably not come before the present term of court but would most likely be on the docket for the July term.

COOLIDGE KEEPS SILENCE WHILE ON NEW YORK TRIP

New York, March 20.—(AP)—Calvin Coolidge arrived in New York tonight apparently determined that as a private citizen he shall continue his custom of using words sparingly.

To reporters who accompanied him from his train at the Grand Central terminal and rode with him in an elevator to the suite at the Commodore hotel he gave no information as to the purpose of his trip to the metropolis.

The only response their questions brought was a faintly noticeable tightening of Mr. Coolidge's lips.

GALLOGLY CASE TO REACH JURY BEFORE NIGHT

Defendant in Second Statement Denies He Was Present During Holdup of Grocery.

DECLARES HARSH WOUNDED IN DUEL

Claims He Dressed Wound of Friend—Arguments of Counsel Will Begin This Morning.

All evidence being concluded with the dramatic second appearance of the defendant on the witness stand during the day, the state and defense closed Wednesday night in the trial of Dick Gallogly, charged with the murder of Willard Smith. Arguments will begin at 9 o'clock this morning and the case will go to the jury by 6 o'clock tonight.

Gallogly in his supplementary statement to his unsown testimony charged for the first time that George Harsh, his convicted alleged accomplice, had been wounded in the gunfire at the A&P grocery store on Hemphill avenue on October 6, during which Smith was killed.

Gallogly denied having been with Harsh at the A&P robbery, but said that when he met him later that he had been wounded. The slaying of Meeks is attributed to Harsh. According to Gallogly's second statement, Harsh claims that he was a fellow employee during the battle.

Testimony concerning the grocery holdup and other robberies had been heard by the state when the presiding judge, John D. Humphries, of the Fulton superior court, ruled it inadmissible in rebuttal to Gallogly's first statement of the day, in which he declared he accompanied Harsh to the store where Smith was slain solely in an attempt to dissuade him from his announced intention to rob the defense staff.

The rebuttal testimony was offered at the first trial of Gallogly, which resulted in a mistrial, but ruled out by Judge Virgil B. Moore, who was presiding. A motion to rule out all of the rebuttal testimony was made by Sam D. Hewlett, of defense counsel, but was overruled by Judge Humphries.

Four Hours of Argument.

Four hours of argument will be permitted both state and defense attorneys to make their case. Deputy Solicitor Ed A. Stephens would speak first for the state, to be followed by Sam D. Hewlett and Ed A. Stephens. General John A. Boykin closing for the state and Reuben Arnold closing for the defense.

The supplementary statement by Gallogly follows:

"Some of this statement I wrote at the time of the case and the rest I have just written.

"On October 6 Howard Kendall and I exchanged cars. This was nothing unusual as I have exchanged cars with friends frequently. We expected to go to see some girls and take them to ride, but my car was a small sedan, had much more room than the other car, and I decided to take that night and we could not use the small seat of my car if it rained. These were the reasons as best I can remember why we swapped cars that night."

"After George and I started out, George decided that he did not want to take any girls that night, so we drove down to Cain and Peachtree street and I decided to go to a movie. George decided that he would take the car and drive around until 11 o'clock and meet me after I had gotten the theater in front of the Henry Grady hotel. He met me there about 10:35 or 11 o'clock, after I had left the picture show."

"I did not know where George had been with the car but after I met him in front of the Henry Grady hotel and we started out to the drugstore to exchange cars back, George told me he had been in a shooting scrape with two men, and had gotten shot."

"He said one of the men, when shooting at him, had shot the other man, and that he had fired back and had hit the other man. He said the man or not. I told George this was just a question of time as to when he would get killed if he didn't quit drinking and getting in fights with people."

"We went on back to Seventeenth street and I took George Forrester to my home in my car. He met me there about 10:35 or 11 o'clock, after I had left the picture show."

"I did not know where George had been with the car but after I met him in front of the Henry Grady hotel and we started out to the drugstore to exchange cars back, George told me he had been in a shooting scrape with two men, and had gotten shot."

Edward H. Inman Wins County Race; Longino Is Second

Successful Candidate Carries 20 Precincts for Total of 4,104 Votes; Aggregate of 10,419 Polled.

COLLEGE PARK MAN GIVEN 3,233 VOTES

Pennington Is Third With 2,397, Bettis, Dunn, King and Ownby Following in Order.

Edward H. Inman, Atlanta financier and former member of the Atlanta city council, Wednesday was elected Fulton county commissioner to succeed the late Captain George Hope.

Mr. Inman's total in the 20 precincts was 4,104. He carried 20 of the 39 precincts and fell only 1,105 short of getting a majority of all the votes cast. A total of 10,419 votes were polled, due to last-minute snafus in the city. The tabulations were made by The Constitution.

George Longino, Jr., of College Park, was second with 3,233 votes, and Robert F. Pennington, mayor pro tem of Atlanta, was third, registering 2,397.

Other candidates in the race polled the following: Dunn Bettis, 420; William E. George, Jr., 17; Andy R. King, 189, and Vestal M. Ownby, 50.

Mr. Longino carried nine precincts; Mr. Pennington eight, and Mr. Bettis one. Mr. Pennington and Mr. Inman were tied with nine votes each in Center Hill "B."

Early indications were that less than 8,000 voters would visit the polls, but the late hour rush pushed the total beyond the 10,000 mark. More than 55,000 citizens of the county were entitled to vote in the election.

Councilman J. W. Rountree, of the third ward and campaign manager for Mr. Inman, issued a statement expressing the voters for their demonstration of confidence as demonstrated by the total vote.

Mr. Inman Wednesday night issued the following statement: "To the many friends whose support gave me victory in my race for county commissioner, I wish to express my thanks and deepest appreciation. I promise the people of the county four years of my best efforts."

"I wish to extend to those who supported my candidacy my heartfelt gratitude," Mr. Longino said. "The race is over, but the friendships formed will ever endure and I wish to express to those who so faithfully supported me and who were so loyal. The vote fills me with a desire to continue to be of service to my friends."

Foch Became Allies Chief 11 Years Ago

President Wilson First Told World of Unified Command for Armies.

BY KIRKE L. SIMPSON. (Associated Press Staff Writer). Washington, March 21.—Eleven years ago tonight German troops were moving up in dense masses to strike the most terrific blow of the war just at dawn March 21 on a 50-mile front against British troops. The roar of preparatory bombardment rattled doors and windows in Dover, far across on the east coast of England.

The final struggle for mastery was at hand; the hour for the coming of the greatest soldier of the war, Ferdinand Foch, marshal of France, had struck.

Nine days later Foch was generalissimo of all the allied and american forces on the western front. First word of this final act to weld into a single force the armies battling back the German on-surge came in a cryptic message of congratulation to Foch sent by President Wilson March 29, 1918.

Wilson's Message. "May I not convey to you my sincere congratulations on your new authority?" the war president wrote. "Such unity of command is the most hopeful augury of ultimate success. We are following with profound interest the bold and brilliant action of your forces."

Not until next day, March 30, did Lloyd George, in London, announce this fateful decision. On March 29, too, came Pershing's terse message announcing that he had thrown all American forces in France into the scales.

"Have made all our resources available and our divisions will be used as needed," the American commander declared after his conference with Foch. "French are in fine spirit and both armies seem confident."

So it comes that almost on the eleventh anniversary of the greatest moment of his career, when to him passed command of a military map of the world more vast than any the world had ever dreamed of, the first Marne, he breathed his last.

He was never to forget the part America played in demanding unified command and in urging his selection

GEORGIA 'HOOVERCRATS' PLEDGED PATRONAGE

Flanders, Back From Washington, Says Democrat Support Will Be Remembered.

Savannah, Ga., March 20.—(AP)—G. Fred Flanders, of Savannah, Georgia, a prominent Democrat, said in a statement here today after his return from the inaugural ceremonies in Washington, that the party which supported Hoover for the presidency will be "given a square deal" in Georgia patronage distribution.

He said the national committee had "good sufficient reasons" for deferring action on confirmation of his selection as national committeeman, that he was well satisfied with the results of the committee meeting, and that he will "with the assistance of friends handle the affairs of the party in Georgia" in the meanwhile.

Mr. Flanders said he did not believe it was the purpose of the present administration to attempt to win the south with patronage but "to merit its support upon the broad lines of honest and efficient government."

"Recognition," he said, "will be given those who supported the Hoover ticket but did not renounce their allegiance to the democratic party, and their advice will be sought and appreciated."

of the task. Little of this had cropped to the surface of the news before President Wilson's cable congratulations were made public in Washington. Even in this country the lid of voluntary press censorship was tightly clamped. In fact it was not until April 18 that the formal message of American ratification of Foch's selection was made public by General Bliss, American representative on the supreme war council headed by Foch and who transmitted it to the French government.

"In the name of the republic of the United States of America, the president approves the nomination of General Foch as commander-in-chief of the allied armies, operating in France," that communication said.

Secretary of War Baker had been in Europe some time when the German drive was launched in March. He was quick to approve Pershing's prompt tender of all American forces to Foch.

"It will meet with hearty approval in the United States where the people desire their expeditionary forces to be of the utmost service to the common cause," he said.

Use of Americans. For it was by employment of American troops, Pershing's crusade, that Foch achieved the organization of that "army of maneuver" which later swept back the German tide and wrung victory from defeat by November 11. Baker had found he allied mobile reserve no more than a "paper army" when he reached France and Washington press writers were quick to deduce when President Wilson's cryptic congratulations to Foch were known, that the war secretary had been sent to press for just such a unification of command.

gratulations and stated: "I will attack Naco tomorrow morning."

CALLES' FORCES TO BE DIVIDED.

Mexico City, March 20.—(AP)—High official sources here said tonight that General Plutarco Calles, after re-establishing order in Torreon, would divide his forces. One contingent, made up of about 18,000 selected troops, would be sent on the trail of General Escobar, whose rebel army of about 4,000 men was tonight understood to be near Jimenez, half-way between Torreon and the Chihuahua city.

This will leave General Calles a reserve of about 12,000 men, which bar probably had looted the DuPont plant at Dynamene of an immense amount of explosives. That plant is located on a spur track a short distance northwest of Torreon. It was also understood here that Escobar himself has moved his headquarters from Escalon, his first stopping point after the evacuation of Torreon, to Jimenez. Dynamene was the only extensive powder plant under operation in all of Mexico.

It was said that Escobar apparently had his men under good control. If he maintains his present rate of retreat, he probably will be in the mountainous country south of Chihuahua City by the end of the week.

REBEL RETREAT CALLED LURE.

Juarez, Mexico, March 20.—(AP)—General Jose Escobar's retreat toward Chihuahua City was described by revolutionary leaders today as a tactical campaign to lure the main federal army into rebel-infested northern Mexico, where the government command will be subjected to a powerful counter drive from insurgent forces in the north and south.

Hindered in their northward pursuit of the rebels by damaged railroad lines, burned bridges and disrupted communication facilities, the federal command, the insurgents say, will encounter a southward offensive from Escobar's forces, coupled with an attack from the rear somewhere in the barren wastes of southern Chihuahua.

General Escobar protested in a message to General Marcelino Murietta at Juarez today against the granting of any permits by the United States allowing federal troops to cross American soil to enable General Abelardo Rodriguez to carry out commissions from the government. General Rodriguez has been named chief of operations by General Calles in the states of Sonora, Sinaloa and Nayarit.

Red Cross Drive For Flood Fund Reaches $16,000

Responses from a sympathetic Atlanta to the appeals for funds for the relief of flood sufferers in the south Alabama-Georgia and northwest Florida zone have driven the amount received in cash and pledges up to $16,000, it was announced Wednesday night by Dr. R. R. Byrnes, chairman of the Atlanta chapter of the Red Cross.

Dr. Byrnes expressed confidence that the quota of $50,000 set for Atlanta would be raised, and urged all citizens to contribute according to their means. A total of $5,000 has been received in cash, and promises of $11,000 more have been obtained, Dr. Byrnes said.

Most people have the wrong impression of flood conditions, Dr. Byrnes said. He pointed out that the real work comes in rehabilitating the flood sufferers, whose homes have been demolished, whose clothing and food have been washed away or destroyed, and who must start over in an area where disease threatens and food is at a premium.

The Red Cross has gone ahead of the flood and is warning inhabitants of their danger, Dr. Byrnes said. He expressed appreciation of the co-operation the organization has received in the drive for flood relief funds.

Radio appeals for funds continue from WSB, William Royer, manager of the Biltmore hotel, made a short talk Wednesday night at 6 o'clock, asking for aid for the flood sufferers, and at 10 o'clock Wednesday night a group of artists from the Howard theater put on an entertainment program over WSB to aid in the drive.

The program was directed by Julian V. Boehm, Fred Gorman and Dr. Byrnes. Artists from Keith's Georgia will appear on tonight's flood relief bill at 11 o'clock.

At a meeting of the Red Cross board Wednesday morning the drive was organized for the civic clubs and for the federation of women's clubs, Dr. Byrnes said.

More than $1,150 was raised Wednesday night by radio appeals for funds, over WSB. A total of $750 was reported from the early evening broadcast and approximately $400 from the 10 o'clock broadcast program. Approximately $1,800 in subscriptions has been raised so far in the radio programs.

NEGRO ARRESTED FOR THE MURDER OF GIRL CLERK

Gary, Ind., March 20.—(AP)—Gillis Mack, six-foot-two negro, was arrested in his room early today in connection with the slaying of Josephine Adorizzi, 29-year-old grocery clerk.

A short-handled hatchet was found in Mack's room, officers said, and it was covered with dried blood.

Miss Adorizzi's body was found yesterday hidden in a vacant lot, her head crushed. She had been missing since Sunday night.

The lot where her body was found was only two blocks from the family home in Tolleston, a suburb. Police believe the slayer waylaid her as she passed, struck her over the head and dragged her to a clump of bushes, where he assaulted and killed her.

Mack, who is 28 years old, was booked on an open charge.

Several women in Tolleston had recently reported being chased by a negro who waved an ax or club.

19 KILLED IN WRECK OF CANADIAN TRAINS

Express Trains Crash Head-On in Early Hours at Way Station.

Toronto, March 20.—(AP)—A constantly mounting death toll tonight continued to add to the horror of the wreck of two Canadian National railroad express trains today at Droccourt, near Parry Sound, Ont.

The death of Express Messenger Stratt brought to 19 the total of dead which had been mounting gradually during the day. A score or more were reported injured, and it was thought possible that more bodies would be found under the wreckage. The two express trains came together head-on just before dawn near the little way station of Droccourt, 45 miles northwest of Parry Sound. Although it had been reported that the wreck was caused by the west-bound train over-running a switch, officials of the road said the cause had not been determined and A. E. Warren, general manager of the central region of the road, pointed out that the engineers and conductors of both trains were men of long experience and clear records.

Harrowing stories of how passengers caught in the burning colonist cars could be heard screaming until death cut short their cries were told by other passengers who were taken to Parry Sound in relief trains.

"One woman could be heard screaming until she burned to death," H. E. Harcourt, a passenger said. "It was terrible. I saw several bodies burning in the wreckage."

New Orleans, March 20.—(AP)—Ernest Lee Jahncke, recently appointed assistant secretary of the navy, and a party of navy officers left here this morning in seaplanes for Pensacola, Fla., to inspect the navy yard there. The plane, which was flown here from Pensacola, was piloted by Admiral Ruby.

NEW HIGHWAY MAP SHOWS PROGRESS IN ROAD BUILDING

The state highway department Wednesday published its highway map of Georgia for the month of March which shows marked construction progress notwithstanding bad weather conditions. The new map shows that a hard-surfaced road now is ready for traffic from a point near Clayton, on the Georgia-North Carolina line, to a point near Valdosta, on the Georgia-Florida line, with the exception of less than 50 miles.

SAFETY COUNCIL HEARS ADDRESS BY PENLAND

Representative of National Body Urges Comprehensive Program of Safety.

Clifford Penland, of Chicago, field representative of the National Safety Council, Wednesday was the principal speaker at the regular weekly luncheon of the Atlanta Safety Council.

The scheduled address by Edward Yaroshchek, operator of one of the big buses operated by the Greenbaum Lines, who has driven the equivalent of 20 times around the world without a single accident, was postponed until a later date. Mr. Yaroshchek was out of the city.

Many matters of importance were discussed at the session Wednesday, over which E. Stevens, president, presided.

Safety Drive Planned.
Preliminary plans for the safety drive to be held during the month of April were announced by George Deibert, secretary.

Mayor L. N. Ragsdale Wednesday sent a formal request to James L. Madden, vice president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, asking that firm to make the traffic survey in Atlanta as proposed through the safety council.

A committee from the safety group and city engineers will confer today on the placing of the traffic signal system on the Pryor street and Central avenue viaducts in order that it may be of the greatest service and insure the maximum of safety. The lights will cost about $2,000 and will be of the panel system in order to be more visible.

Night Fuel Deliveries.
Building owners in the downtown district will be asked to have fuel deliveries at night in order to eliminate traffic congestion during the daytime, under a decision of the council.

Councilman James L. Wells, of the eighth ward and chairman of the traffic committee of city council, will ask city council to make Lorick street from Fairlie to Peachtree non-parking during renovation of the Piedmont hotel. The paper will be offered to council at its next session, April 1.

Mr. Penland called on members of the council to map out a program of safety which would mean "saving of thousands of dollars to merchants and the saving of hundreds of lives of Atlanta citizens and then sell the idea to those who would be benefited."

"Such a system would pay good dividends to operators of large fleets of motor vehicles and insure the financial independence of the council," he declared.

Letter to Madden.
Mr. Ragsdale's letter to Mr. Madden concerning the traffic survey, which is designed to reduce traffic hazards and establish a systematic plan for the handling of traffic flow in Atlanta along scientific and engineering lines, follows:

Mr. James L. Madden, 34 Vice President, Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, 1 Madison Avenue, New York City.

Dear Sir:
I am informed through the Atlanta Safety Council that your organization will make a survey of the traffic needs of our city, free of any cost, if requested to do so. May I respectfully state that we are pleased to have this survey made, beginning as early as possible, as we feel absolutely sure this would be of great value to our traffic force in making Atlanta safer for pedestrians and drivers of cars. I am enclosing herewith letter which was sent to me by Hon. James L. Wells, chairman of the traffic committee of city council, which is self-explanatory.

Very truly,
J. N. RAGSDALE, Mayor.

MUSGROVE STATEMENT EXPLAINS INDICTMENT

Explanation of the position of Seward M. Smith, attorney for the state highway board; Scriven A. Sweet and himself was furnished The Constitution Wednesday by W. V. Musgrove, of Homerville, who, with Smith and Sweet, recently was indicted by the Clinch county grand jury.

Mr. Musgrove's statement follows: Clinch county was tremendously interested in new mileage which not only gave the county a north and south road through the county which is of inestimable benefit to it, but it meant additional revenue through gas tax of more than $15,000 a year to the revenue of Clinch county. When the constitutionality of the new mileage was being contested in the courts, the county realized the great importance of keeping this new mileage and gave to Hon. S. M. Smith, $1,000, not as a fee to him, but he acted by him in the employment of legal help if he saw proper to do so, or if the case was lost in the supreme court, to use the amount or any part thereof in a legitimate way in the employment of counsel or in paying legitimate expenses in the presentation of the question of new mileage to the general assembly this year.

Whatever amount is spent, Mr. Smith will keep a detailed statement showing exactly where every penny went, but not one dollar was given him as a fee or otherwise from the county. Nothing illegal or unusual has been done in this matter, but what was done was solely to help Clinch county in a perfectly legitimate manner to obtain the new mileage allotted.

We have ever exerted our best efforts in behalf of this county for the progress and growth of the county and what was done in this matter was solely for the best interest of the county.

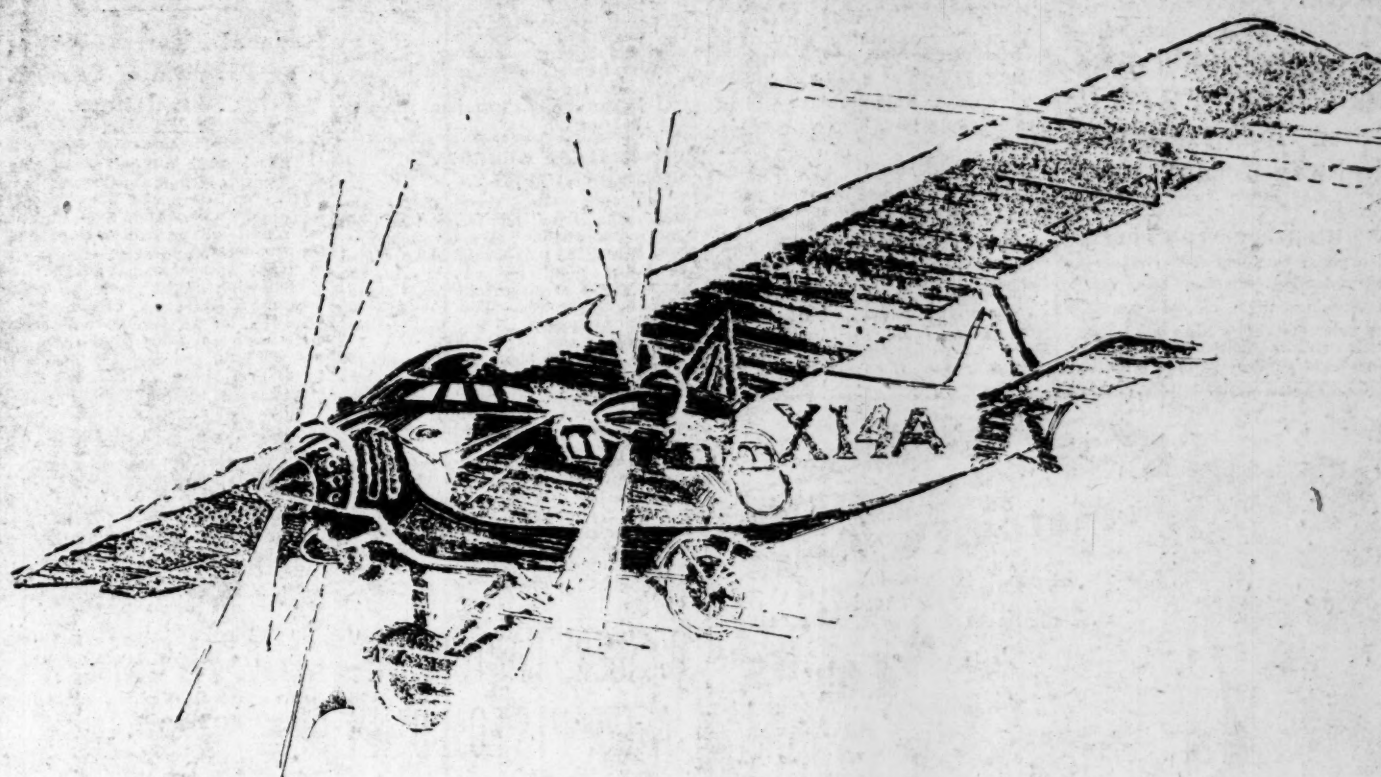

Several days was this mileage question discussed by citizens of the county before the above action was taken, and we never heard one single objection to the expenditure being made as above outlined.

To further inform the public on this matter, the personnel of the grand jury included Mr. J. O. Rogers as its secretary, who was defeated by my son for the office of county school superintendent in the democratic primary and in the general election. It also included Mr. J. F. Barnhill, who was defeated in the same way by Mr. S. A. Sweet, one of the "comptrollers" for the commissioner's place from the Homerville district. It also included Mr. A. K. Sossoms, of Cozzell, Clinch county's leading grand jurymen, who is also a member of the state did not locate a road in front of his house. These men took advantage of their temporary authority to try to humiliate us who have always rendered the county the best service of which we are capable, which at all times has been a selfless one.

FLORIDA PARDON BOARD REDUCES DEATH SENTENCES

Tallahassee, Fla., March 20.—(AP)—After allowing newspapermen to attend their meeting at which commutations of death sentences were granted to four convicted slayers, including one white woman, the state board of pardons today then went into the first executive board session to be held thus far during the administration of Governor Doyle E. Carlton. The commutations were given Mrs. Bertha Hall and Gordon Denmark, convicted in Duval county of the slaying of James Hall, the former's husband; Daniel T. Lowe, given the death sentence in Duval county for attacking a child, and Arthur Davis, convicted in Volusia county of the killing of J. T. Higginbotham.

The board then decided not to interfere with the scheduled electrocution of Britt Pringle, convicted in Duval county of the killing of an aged negro, and deferred action in the cases of Pedro Leon, Hillsborough county slayer, and Abe Washington, of Duval county, because applications in their behalf were not presented at the recent open hearing.

—Today MUSE'S rounds out half a century of growing up with Atlanta--

—Fifty years . . . that's something, when you stop to think about it--

—From a little brick store, 20 feet wide, to seven stories of style, a block long--acclaimed as one of the great stores of the nation--

—And at that--feeling like we've just started! . . . feeling that with all the glory of the past . . . the clock is just beginning to tick--

—Why--comparatively, you might say that folks have never dressed before now . . .

—We mean with all of their mind on it . . . paying attention to color and the full get-up . . . so that dressing in the morning has a kick . . . a big kick . . .

—The world is just getting to the pleasure, the pure fun of standing before the mirror and knocking the ball out of the lot by wearing this tie and shirt, with that particular suit, a certain hat, and shoe--

—Men are at it now--and in this light MUSE'S service gets a greater, fuller meaning. The world is dress-conscious--

—And we're getting more thrill out of racing in with what is new and best, and developing your wardrobes with you--more fun than you can count--

Georgia Streams Receding After Worst Flood in Years; Albany Remains Under Water

Bainbridge Also Continues To Suffer—State Road Board Rushing Highway Repair.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Georgia's flood-crested rivers, the Flint and Chattahoochee, were rapidly resuming their placid windings Wednesday, although high waters still existed in their lower reaches. The Chattahoochee remained above the flood stage south of Columbus, although the gage at that city registered near normal. Eufaula, Ala., still had 49.4 feet of water, however, and Albany 44.2.

Albany, on the Flint, also continued in the grip of the swirling waters, the outgrowth of record-breaking rains a week ago, and Wednesday morning had a water measurement of 51.3 feet. C. F. von Herrmann, official weather forecaster, said the mark there might reach 55 feet, but that the river would begin to fall Wednesday afternoon.

Bainbridge, another trouble point along the Flint, still had to contend with a 38-foot flood stage, and there was little hope of a let up for two or three days.

With possible exception of showers, the weather map Wednesday was favorable to the drying-out process. No heavy rains were in sight, and the weather continued warm, Mr. von Herrmann said.

State highway department officials said there was no change in road conditions over Tuesday, although workmen were rapidly repairing washouts and fills which were damaged by the high water. Railroad traffic was practically normal throughout the state.

CENTRAL OF GEORGIA SUFFERS HEAVILY

Savannah, Ga., March 30.—(AP)—Returning from an inspection trip, H. D. Pollard, vice president and general manager, today said the Central of Georgia suffered damage in the latest flood to an extent he was unable to estimate. The Central of Georgia estimated its loss in the flood two weeks ago at $54,000.

The vice president said he anticipated opening of the Ozark branch of the road tonight, and the Goshen, Ala., division shortly. Fort Gaines, he said, was the only Georgia point of difficulty, and added that he was unable to say when the Florida lines will be ready for resumption of service.

Beginning at Dothan, Ala., and extending to Lockart, the general manager said, the Choctawhatchee and Peach rivers have done extensive damage, which will entail much repair work and the building of a temporary trestle.

OFFICERS CAPTURE BOY AFTER PISTOL DUEL

Alma, Ga., March 30.—(AP)—After a running pistol duel with officers from four south Georgia counties, a 16-year-old boy, giving his name as Focht, was arrested late this afternoon near Spaulding, in Emanuel county, by Sheriff W. L. Johnson, of Bacon county.

A. M. Overstreet, of Appling county, was wounded by the youthful hand before he was overpowered.

Focht was sought for holding up H. P. Purvis, traveling salesman for Swift and Company out of the Waycross office. The youth after robbing Purvis made off with the salesman's automobile.

With the police forces from Bacon, Thomas and Appling counties pursuing him closely, Focht emptied his gun at the car carrying the Bacon county police. The officers returned the fire but Focht kept his car moving from side to side and the officers were unable to puncture his tires. He was overtaken in Emanuel county and as he jumped out of the stolen automobile he fired at the police as they approached and Overstreet was struck in the arm.

Focht will be tried at the term of the Bacon superior court which meets next month.

ICE MANUFACTURERS CONVENE HERE TODAY

National Figures To Appear on Program of Georgia Association.

The eleventh annual convention of the Georgia Ice Manufacturers Association will begin at 10 o'clock this morning at the Henry Grady hotel, with national figures in the field of ice production appearing on a program of trade speeches and advice.

Following registration, which will begin at 8:30 o'clock, President H. W. Caldwell, of LaGrange, will call the convention to order to hear the keynote address and a review of the year by the president. "Delivery Equipment" will be discussed by E. H. Diemer, of Brunswick. "Serving Retail Routes" will be the subject of H. A. McNeill, of Valdosta, and "Quality and Weight" will be discussed by Fred M. Dixon, of Jackson, Mississippi.

The afternoon session will include talks by V. E. Rance, assistant sales manager, Leonard Refrigerator Company, Grand Rapids, Mich.; H. B. Holton, American Service Company, of Newman; Miss Caroline Freeman, of New York; Leslie C. Smith, executive secretary of the National Association of Ice Industries, of Chicago; Charles H. Behre, of New Orleans, vice president of the National Association of Ice Industries; S. S. Dudley, of Atlanta; Walter S. Phillips, LaGrange Ice and Fuel Company, and Albert M. Dixon, of Savannah.

Friday's session will continue addresses by prominent authorities of the industry, and will include election and installation of next officers. A dinner dance in the convention hall of the Henry Grady tonight will head the program of entertainment for the meeting.

AMERICAN WIFE SLAYER GUARDED AT BEDSIDE

Americus, Ga., March 30.—(Special.)—John DeLoach, who shot and killed his wife, Monteen, here Thursday and then attempted suicide, was under guard in the home of Mark Bell today.

DeLoach is suffering from two bullet wounds in the chest, either of which attending physicians say, may cause death.

Notwithstanding this probability, the physicians Tuesday informed Sheriff McArthur that DeLoach "might recover" and this resulted in a decision to guard DeLoach closely until he either recovers or dies.

In the event of his recovery, DeLoach will be tried for the murder of his wife.

The alleged crime was committed in an automobile in the east, either of the Bell home, where Mrs. DeLoach and Mrs. Bell had accompanied their husbands from the business section of Americus.

DeLoach fired five bullets from a revolver, two of which penetrated the skull of his wife and caused almost instant death, and one of which was fired into the chest of Mrs. Bell. DeLoach fired five bullets from a revolver, two of which penetrated the skull of his wife and caused almost instant death, and one of which was fired into the chest of Mrs. Bell.

Following the affair, Solicitor General Hollis, assisted by Sheriff McArthur and other officers here, conducted an investigation which resulted in the exoneration of others present when DeLoach shot and killed his wife.

W. W. (Bud) Wood, fireman, was indicted as the slayer of Willie after testimony of one witness who said he saw the shooting. Willie was slain down at the door of a textile mill where he was foreman. Arrested in Philadelphia a week or so later, Wood said he had gone to the mill to interview his estranged wife and Willie, and that Willie had knocked him down.

TWO AUGUSTANS FACE TRIALS FOR MURDERS

Augusta, Ga., March 30.—(AP)—Two Augustans were under indictment on charges of murder today, after grand jury perusal of the death last Christmas day of Arthur W. Stevens, and H. Syd Wylie, recently at a cotton mill.

C. C. Johnson was indicted on the murder of Stevens, who died despite that a magistrate's hearing resulted in a manslaughter charge. Stevens was shot in his own home.

W. W. (Bud) Wood, fireman, was indicted as the slayer of Willie after testimony of one witness who said he saw the shooting. Willie was slain down at the door of a textile mill where he was foreman. Arrested in Philadelphia a week or so later, Wood said he had gone to the mill to interview his estranged wife and Willie, and that Willie had knocked him down.

MALARIA CAUSED 557 DEATHS IN 1928, HEALTH PAPER SAYS

Georgia's Health, publication of the state board of health, printed an article this week dealing with the situation in this state as to malaria, stating that 557 deaths occurred in Georgia last year from the malarial fever.

"The mosquito long ago should have been considered a greater menace to Georgia's prosperity than the boll weevil," the writer said, adding in a subsequent paragraph, "malaria will be conquered. Necessity has mothered the invention of new and economical methods. Science has been observed and has witnessed success. Bright dawns a new day, resplendent with the light of optimism. Malaria will be conquered."

Premier Declares Greek Gold Reserve Now Totals $53,500,000

Athens, March 30.—(AP)—Premier Venizelos today issued a statement detailing Greece's financial situation in which he said the Bank of Greece possessed a gold reserve of $53,500,000 covering over 52 per cent of its note circulation.

The budget, he said, will balance and consequently the press campaign for stopping payment to creditors is baseless and detrimental to Greek interests.

Under a policy of construction of public works and development of agriculture, the premier said he believed four years would bring national prosperity.

WATERWAYS MEETING

Harry O. Mitchell To Attend Anniston Conference.

Harry O. Mitchell, district manager of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, will leave Atlanta this morning for Anniston, where he will attend a conference on inland waterways. He also is planning to visit the new district office in Birmingham before returning to Atlanta.

Today Is First Day of Spring, Calendar Says

Astronomically speaking, with the arrival of March 21, spring has come and its arrival hereabouts will be greeted by clear skies and temperatures appropriate to the season. The predicted range being from 50 up to 75, according to the official forecast of C. F. von Herrmann, local meteorologist.

Though there is said to be a slight possibility of showers later in the day, the weather man is not upset about the situation and says that Old Spring probably will be on duty for most of his allotted hours, anyway.

A slight explanation of just why March 21 marks the astronomical beginning of the year's favorite season perhaps would not be inappropriate at this juncture and this is made possible by information doled out Wednesday by Mr. von Herrmann.

In the 12th century, at about 8 o'clock Wednesday night, Atlanta time, the sun crossed the equator, heading north, and the vernal equinox made its appearance. This brings about a peculiar condition of affairs today inasmuch as, theoretically at least, the daylight hours will number more than the darkness. This brings about a peculiar condition of affairs today inasmuch as, theoretically at least, the daylight hours will number more than the darkness.

What's more, not only does this condition prevail here but everywhere else in the world with the exception of the polar regions. That is to say, that people in London, Hongkong, Calcutta, Rangoon, San Francisco, Cape Town, Macao, Seattle and Peking today will enjoy exactly the same amount of sunlight, all because Old Sol is just halfway between the summer solstice of June 21 and the winter solstice of December 22.

BYRD MURDER TRIAL NOT LISTED FOR APRIL

Waycross, Ga., March 30.—(Special.)—Murder charges against Levy Smith, Lawton Dixon and Dan Tyre, indicted in connection with the murder of Ira Byrd, Pierce county farmer, will not be called before the regular April term of Pierce county superior court, according to A. B. Allen, clerk of court.

Mrs. Agnes Byrd, widow of the slain farmer, and Powell "Pal" Brandon, were convicted at a special session of Pierce superior court several weeks ago, and were given life sentences. New trials have been asked in both cases.

Smith, Dixon and Tyre, were indicted in the same bill with Mrs. Byrd and Brandon, but separate trials were asked by the defendants.

It is probable that a qualified jury will not be drawn, the jury box having been practically exhausted in the selection of juries for the first two cases.

Solicitor A. B. Spence, Waycross, announces however, that there will be no changes in venue until the box has been completely exhausted.

DEPUTIES GUARD RAYON MILLS FROM STRIKERS

Company Officials Seek To Resume Operations After 800 Walk Out.

Elizabethton, Tenn., March 30.—(AP)—Sheriff's deputies reinforced by two companies of National Guards today had taken over the task of guarding two rayon mills here, while company officials for the second time since the beginning of a strike a week ago sought to resume operations.

The strike started in the plant of the American Glanzstoff corporation when 800 girls walked out with demands for wage increases last Wednesday. The plant was closed when minor disorders followed the walk-out.

Picketing by strikers affected the adjoining American Reamberg plant, and attempts were made to bar workers from entering either mill. New disturbances were created Monday and several hundred workers had entered the mills through fields in the rear in an effort to resume work. The trouble occurred when the afternoon shift tried to go on duty, a number of workers being stoned by a crowd of strikers.

Plant officials announced an indefinite shutdown at that time. The two plants employ 5,500 workers.

Enforces Injunction. Sheriff J. W. Moreland, called on to enforce injunctions secured by the mills, appealed to two Elizabethton companies of guardsmen for help and deputized both units. The troops and deputies today went on a 24-hour schedule guarding buildings and highway approaches. The troops are serving in uniform and are armed with rifles.

Injunctions granted the rayon manufacturers forbid strikers from going on company property or from molesting workers going to and from the plants.

Dr. Arthur Mothwurf expressed the opinion that with the protection afforded today large numbers of the idle workers were ready to return. He previously had announced that employees would be taken back as individuals, but not as an organized body.

Labor leaders today claimed that the textile workers' union, formed since the walkout last week, had grown to a membership of 1,000, and that the workers would not go back until their organization was recognized. The strikers are asking increases ranging up to 30 per cent in wages.

W. Frank Solomon, chairman of a strike emergency committee, announced that an appeal for help for needy strikers had been issued, and that offers of help had been received.

PROGRAM AT CHURCH

Electrical Workers To Sing Friday at East End.

A varied program of songs, dialogues, jokes and blackface acts will be presented in the Electrical Workers' quartet, of the Georgia Power Company, at 8 o'clock Friday night at the Oakhurst school auditorium under the auspices of the Men's Bible Class of the East End Methodist church. A small admission will be charged, the proceeds to go to the East End building fund.

MOTHER IS HELD SOUTHERN SYSTEM ON MURDER CHARGE IN CHILD'S DEATH

Richmond, Va., March 30.—(AP)—Mrs. Susie Collins, 33, of this city, charged with murder in connection with the death of her 12-year-old daughter, Elizabeth, is to be given a preliminary hearing April 3. The police hearing, programed for today, was continued by agreement until then and Mrs. Collins was returned to jail with no bond fixed.

State and defense lawyers expect a grand jury to indict here for murder April 1.

Mrs. Collins, arrested on a warrant charging murder, is said by police to have confessed that she turned on five jets of her gas stove early last Wednesday morning because she was tired of living and did not want to leave her daughter behind.

Neighbors found the daughter dead and the mother unconscious in a gas-filled room adjoining the kitchen.

BUYS 43,500 TONS OF HEAVIER RAIL

Contracts for the purchase of 43,500 tons of new rail, enough to lay 263 miles of track, for delivery during April, May and June, have just been let by the Southern Railway system, it was announced Wednesday by R. B. Pegram, vice president of the Southern.

The purchase includes 11,700 tons of 120-pound section, 28,800 tons of 100-pound, and 3,000 tons of 85-pound rail. Of the total, 12,700 tons were purchased from the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company and will be rolled at its Ensley, Ala., plant, near Birmingham; 12,700 tons from the Bethlehem Steel company, and 2,000 tons from the Illinois Steel company.

During 1928 the Southern equipped 584 miles of track with heavier rail, 370 miles being laid with new rail and 214 miles with relay rail.

LUNDBORG WILL MEET PRESIDENT HOOVER TODAY

Washington, March 20.—(AP)—Captain Einer Paul Lundborg, rescuer of General Noble and members of his ill-fated polar expedition last year, will be presented to President Hoover tomorrow by the Swedish minister.

Baritone Thomas Given Big Chance By G. A. Baldini

BY RALPH T. JONES.

When Charles Thomas sings at the Woman's Club auditorium next Monday night, there will be one man in his audience who will be renewing an old friendship—and thinking of a day several years ago when he entered the Thomas dressing room in a New York theater with considerable fear and trepidation, and so forth.

G. A. Baldini, general manager of the Music Festival Association, who is about the busiest man in town these days with seat sale for grand opera just beginning, was largely responsible for Mr. Thomas' entry in the concert and grand opera field of vocalists.

Musical Comedy Sensation. Four years ago Mr. Thomas was the sensation of Broadway for his work in the musical comedy, "Maytime." Mr. Baldini was manager of the artist's department for the Avon Company. It was his task to select singers to make Vocalion records. He had sopranos, contraltos, mezzos, basses, etc., from the concert platform and from the opera stage. But he needed a super-excellent baritone. So Mr. Baldini sent an emissary to talk to the musical comedy star about the matter. This emissary came back saying that he had almost been kicked out of the Thomas dressing room.

Consented to Recording. Mr. Baldini went himself. He had heard Thomas' performance. He was thrilled by the great baritone voice. He talked persuasively and Thomas consented to try at least one recording.

That recording was "Tommy Lad" and it was as nearly perfect as records can be. The next, one of the hardest, on the list, was "Danny Deever." It was a like success.

And then Mr. Baldini persuaded Mr. Thomas to forsake musical comedy for higher realms of his art. He made his concert debut in Newark and was so sensational a success they rushed him to New York for his second engagement. Again, a triumph.

Then Thomas disappeared from public view. He was studying and enlarging his repertoire. He next appeared in Europe. He was snapped up by the Royal Opera at Brussels and since then has been the leading curer singers to make Vocalion records. He had sopranos, contraltos, mezzos, basses, etc., from the concert platform and from the opera stage. But he needed a super-excellent baritone. So Mr. Baldini sent an emissary to talk to the musical comedy star about the matter. This emissary came back saying that he had almost been kicked out of the Thomas dressing room.

EDWARD H. CAVIN, "1929 PAUL REVERE," IS STATE EMPLOYEE

Edward H. Cavin, who was called "a modern Paul Revere" in Associated Press dispatches Wednesday because of his work in warning people living in the Apalachicola river valley of the approach of floods, is an attaché of the state welfare department at the capitol. It was revealed Wednesday, Mr. Cavin is working with the welfare department as a special representative of the American Legion, being assigned to this work by the national headquarters of that organization.

Diseases and Hazards Of Railway Employees Discussed at Meeting

Occupational diseases and hazards of the railway worker were subjects of a conference Wednesday of the American Railway Association, which has brought to the fore from every part of the country and Canada. More than a dozen railroads are represented.

Dr. J. R. Garner, chief surgeon of the Atlanta & W. C. Point railroad, the Western Railway of Alabama and the Georgia railroad, presided at the meeting. Dr. Garner is chairman of the committee on occupational diseases and hazards. Other committee members who are in Atlanta are Dr. John McCombe, of Montreal; Dr. W. H. Bohart, of Chicago; Dr. L. A. Emminger, of Indianapolis; Dr. A. E. Chase, of Texarkana; Dr. G. G. Dowdall, of Chicago; and J. C. Caviston, of New York city.

ITALIAN SOCIETY PLANS OPERALOGUE OF "LA TRAVIATA"

"La Traviata" will be presented at 8:30 o'clock Friday night in Ampico hall as an operalogue sponsored by the Italian Society of Atlanta, according to announcement by G. Negri, president.

Maestro Emilio Volpi will direct the musical program, which will feature his choir of male and female voices. Julian Boehm will describe the various scenes and interpret the life of the composer.

There will be no admission charge. Mr. Negri stated, and the general public is invited. The Circolo Italiana di Atlanta is endeavoring, by means of the present series of operalogues, to develop a wider public appreciation of grand opera than has existed heretofore in this section.

AUTO-BUS CRASH RESULTS IN SUITS TOTALING $55,000

Suits totaling $55,000 were filed Wednesday in the city court of Atlanta against the Dixie Safety Coaches, Inc., and P. E. McElroy, coach driver, as the result of an accident on January 12 on the Dixie highway seven miles south of Griffin. The plaintiff alleges that McElroy swerved the coach to the left as their automobile was passing, and the automobile was forced off the road, turning over.

Mrs. Sarah M. Vaughn and Mrs. Elizabeth M. Fain ask $20,000 each for personal injuries. J. W. Vaughn seeks $5,000 for loss of his wife's services, while C. L. Fain, owner of the car, asks $7,500 for loss of his wife's services and for damage to the automobile. Henry Austin, chauffeur for Fain, asks $2,500 for injuries. The petitions were filed by the law firm of Hewlett & Dennis.

SPECIAL OCCASION TELEGRAMS IN 1928 REACHED 3,000,000

Approximately 3,000,000 special occasion telegrams were sent by the American people in 1928, according to figures made public Wednesday. Towards of $1,250,000 was spent on these messages of greeting. In addition, thousands of persons cabled greetings to all sorts of the world and thousands more sent money orders and gift orders by telegraph.

These figures, it was pointed out, comprised only those special greetings sent on Valentine's Day, Easter, Mother's Day, Father's Day, Jewish New Year, Thanksgiving and Christmas and New Year's and no figures are available for the large number of telegrams sent on such special occasions as birthdays, weddings and anniversaries.

POSTOFFICES ROBBED $130 Taken by Burglars at Converse, S. C.

The postoffice at Converse, S. C., was robbed of approximately $130 Tuesday night when yeggs blew the door of the vault in which the postal funds are kept, according to information received here Wednesday by Joe P. Johnston, postoffice inspector in charge. The robbery of the postoffice at Eauclaire, Fla., also was robbed, but no details were given in the report received by Mr. Johnston.

PLAN ILLUSTRATION OF STAPLE COTTON TYPE

Standards Conference Urges Improvement in Ginning Methods.

Washington, March 20.—(AP)—The Universal Cotton Standards conference decided today to issue tentative types illustrating the preparation of long staple cotton in strict middling, middling and strict low middling grades for permissive use during the next two years.

It was agreed that the next biennial conference would consider the possible modification of these standards after their use during the two-year period.

The conference also went on record as urging the improvement of present ginning methods of American ginners which has been resulting in deterioration in the quality of staple cotton.

A proposal to issue physical standards for the good middling spotted to low middling spotted, inclusive, and to establish descriptive standards for light tinged cotton for the same grades was considered but no conclusion was reached.

The new spotted and light tinged grades had been suggested to take the place of the present descriptive standards for spotted cotton which embrace all cotton which in color falls between the present white and yellow tinged boxes. Representatives of the European countries expressed themselves as wishing to withhold a decision on that question for the present.

Transfer Standard. The European representatives offered a proposal "that standards of blue and yellow stained cotton be transferred to inactive standards and that such standards be not submitted to be passed at the biennial conference," but no action was taken since the grades mentioned are now an essential part of the universal standards.

The conference considered the inclusion of the Japan Cotton Spinners' association and the Japan Cotton Merchants' union as parties to the universal standards agreements. The department of agriculture proposed to allow the Japanese organizations to become parties to the agreement but the European exchanges refused. The European representatives, however, passed a resolution declaring that they had no objection to the department of agriculture making a separate agreement with Japan but that it should have no effect on the present division of the voting power of the universal conference.

The conference approved 65 sets of the universal standards for American cotton for use during the next two years.

One set was drawn by lot and placed in the United States treasury as the first reserve set and the other sets, also drawn by lot, were set aside to be distributed among the exchanges, associations, and the trade.

WILLIS A. SUTTON TO SPEAK TODAY AT JAYCEE LUNCH

An address on "Health" by Willis A. Sutton, Atlanta public school superintendent, will be a feature of the Junior Chamber "Good Health Exposition" luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce at 12:15 o'clock this afternoon, and Dr. C. C. Ayon, Hal Davidson and A. M. Dimmock will be guests of honor for the occasion.

Miss Ginger Rogers, appearing at the Howard theater this week; Fred Lindsay, famous big game hunter on the current bill at Keith's Georgia, and Margaret Mooring head an entertainment program which is said to be the most elaborate the Jaycees have presented in some time.

Other guests of honor will include the Fultonville players, Atlanta theater stock company, headed by Beverly Bayne.

CITY CLUB TO MEET Judge E. C. Kontz Will Lead Discussion.

Discussion of the welfare of the City Club of Atlanta will feature the regular meeting at 12:30 o'clock today at the Ansley hotel. Judge E. C. Kontz will lead the discussion which will include finances, programs and membership. It was announced.

MAYOR RAGSDALE APPROVES PAPERS SENT BY COUNCIL

Mayor I. N. Ragdsdale Wednesday afternoon practically completed approving all papers sent to him by city council at its session Monday.

Several unimportant and technical measures were held in his office for further study.

Included among the papers which met with executive approval was construction of the White street sewer at a cost of $211,000. The contract will go to the C. A. Pittman company.

DR. JAMES I. VANCE TO SPEAK TODAY AT NOON MEETING

Dr. James I. Vance, regarded as one of the leading Presbyterian clergymen of the world, speaks today at the Baptist tabernacle in the fourth of five appearances at the union noon meetings, held daily from 12:15 to 12:45 o'clock.

Dr. Vance's talks are all related, but yet each is complete in itself. Wednesday he spoke on "Victory," expressing some rather startling views on victory and to pound home his points he told several stories which were vastly entertaining in addition to serving their greater purpose.

Dr. Vance addressed a large audience at Central Presbyterian church Wednesday night on the subject, "What Does God Look Like?" He looks like a Father," Dr. Vance said. "Christ did not die to make God our Father; He died because God is our Father. He died to make us realize that God is the Father of all men; of saint and sinner; of Jew and Gentile; of the white race and of the black race. When a man accepts this fact, he is saved. He quits fighting God and takes the place that has always been waiting for him in God's family; He claims his sonship."

Dr. Vance will speak at Central Presbyterian church again tonight and Friday night and at both Sunday services. His subject tonight will be "The Sinner's Lawyer."

Adams and Couch Speakers At Dixie Book Exposition

E. C. L. Adams, of Columbia, S. C., and W. T. Couch, of the University of North Carolina Press at Chapel Hill, outstanding figures in the southern literary world, were speakers Wednesday afternoon before an appreciative audience at the southern book exposition in the book shop of M. Rich & Bros. Co.

Dr. Adams read excerpts from his widely-known "Cognitive Sketches" and "Nigger to Nigger," and Mr. Couch told of the work being done by the University of North Carolina Press and the influence of university presses on the thought and taste of the South. Sidney Herbert sang a group of spirituals.

The exposition program from 3 to 5:30 o'clock this afternoon will be featured by addresses from three additional outstanding southern authors—Corra Harris, Georgia's own author; Rora Bradford, of New Orleans, author of "O' Man Adam and His Child," and Julia Peterkin, of South Carolina, author of "Black April" and "The Sinner's Lawyer."

OPERA SEASON SEATS TO GO ON SALE TODAY

As this is written, eager operatic souls are forming the nucleus of a line at the Cable Piano Company. By 9 o'clock this morning, when the little door over the window of the box office there goes up, automatically launching the season ticket sale for Atlanta's 19th year of Metropolitan grand opera, the line will have assumed interesting proportions.

It is getting to be quite an event, this annual ticket sale, opening for the greatest musical happening of the year in the south. Somehow it brings realization that the week of opera is actually getting close. Anticipation since the program for the week was announced is well enough in its way, but there is a relish of advance realization when we go up and select the actual seats we are to occupy.

Big Guarantors' Sale. This year, according to G. A. Baldini, general manager for the Music Festival association, the sale of guarantors' seats—which was held a week or more ago—was greater than ever before. There also have been more inquiries from out-of-town. Nevertheless, there are a number of seats in the auditorium and there is no danger of anyone failing to get approximately the exact location desired.

In fact, Charles Howard Candler, vice president and treasurer of the association, gave assurance Wednesday that those who are reasonably early in applying can have practically any seats they want.

A heavy guarantors' sale, such as we have enjoyed, Mr. Candler said, "doesn't affect the desirability of the seats to be had. After all, the number of guarantors is negligible compared to the size of the auditorium and it takes a lot of sales to prevent any considerable proportion. But folks who want certain locations had better get down to the box office as soon as possible. There is always the possibility, you know, that someone else will want the same spot."

Attractive Program. The program this year is proving exceptionally attractive to southern music lovers. With a new opera on Monday night, which has received more enthusiastic praise from the critics than any premiere in a dozen years; with several of the greatest favorites of all time and some of the dear standbys that everyone loves coming later in the week, there is something for every type of opera fan. The program follows:

Monday night, April 22, Puccini's "La Rondine"; Tuesday night, Verdi's "Aida"; Wednesday night, "Manon"; Thursday night, "La Gioconda"; Friday night, "Faust"; Saturday afternoon, "Martha"; and Saturday night, "La Traviata."

The list of singers scheduled includes nearly all the favorites of recent years—Borini, Gatti, Hori, Gatti, Lauri-Volpi, De Luca, Easton, Mario, Bourskaya, Clausen, Edward Johnson, Tokatyan, Rasiola, Danise, Tibbels, Pigeon, and others.

The ballet will appear four times this season, in "Aida," "Gioconda," "Faust" and "Traviata."

STATE COMMISSION TO OPPOSE HIKE IN STOCK RATES

Proposed increases in intrastate rates on live stock recommended to the interstate commerce commission by a special examiner of that body, will be opposed by the Georgia public service commission, it was announced Wednesday by James A. Perry, chairman. The briefs containing the arguments of the Georgia commission against the proposed increases were prepared by E. M. Price, rate expert, and were sent to Washington Wednesday. They will be considered by the commission at a session to be held in Washington April 26.

It was learned that the increases were proposed as to make certain Georgia rates on live stock conform to interstate rates as closely as possible. The Georgia commission does not agree with the report of the special examiner and has prepared arguments against the establishment of the new rates.

Many large shippers of live stock in Georgia are interested in the case and are lending their support to the commission in the fight.

Mrs. Ernest Horwitz Is Elected President Of Tri-State Sisterhood

Mrs. Ernest Horwitz, prominent Atlanta woman, has just been elected president of the Tri-State Temple Sisterhood, it was announced Wednesday following her return to Atlanta from Birmingham, where she attended the convention of the organization composed of societies in Georgia, Florida and Alabama.

She recently attended the national convention in California, where she went as a delegate.

YOUTH FORUM MEETS

Companionate Matches To Be Discussed.

Companionate marriage will be discussed by the Youth Forum at the regular meeting at 8 o'clock Friday night at the Chamber of Commerce. Principal speakers on the subject "Does Companionate Marriage Destroy the Home?" will be Prof. H. H. Harris, of the department of sociology, of Emory university, and Dr. Frank H. Hall.

Following the speakers, the meeting will be thrown open to short, impromptu talks by those not over the age of 35 years. The public is invited.

STATE NARCOTIC LAWS ADVOCATED BY HAGER

Federal District Attorney Gives History of "Dope" Legislation Before Masons.

State legislation to assist the federal government in stopping "dope" traffic and to establish institutions for the purpose of treating addicts was advocated by United States District Attorney Clint W. Hager in an address before the Atlanta Masonic Club at the Wincoff hotel Wednesday afternoon, in which he sketched briefly the history of narcotic legislation in the United States.

"Prior to 1914," he declared, "there were no laws governing the importation and sale of drugs in this country. The demand for such legislation grew and the result was the Harrison narcotic law, which was passed as a revenue measure. It has come within an ace of being declared unconstitutional on more than one occasion and there are practically no state laws on the question."

This act has reduced greatly the amount of narcotics brought into this country, the speaker stated, figures showing that importations have dropped from 900,000 pounds yearly to approximately 100,000 pounds.

Pointing out that drug addiction is a disease, Mr. Hager urged that the individual states take steps to provide places where addicts may be cared for. He stated that the recently passed Porter act, providing for the establishment of institutions for addicts under federal supervision, was a step in the right direction and should be supplemented by actions on the part of various states.

B. C. Broyles presided at the meeting. At the conclusion of the principal address several members of the club made short talks endorsing the ideas presented by Mr. Hager.

Speaking of the work of the Masonic Club, Claude Hughes pointed out that the club undertake to supply milk for the Scottish Rite Children's Hospital.

STATE'S FINANCIAL CONDITION STRONG, REPORT INDICATES

Georgia's bonded indebtedness is very small and the credit of the state is very high, as compared to many other states of the Union, according to Captain W. J. Speer, state treasurer, in his annual report, copies of which were filed Wednesday in the office of the governor.

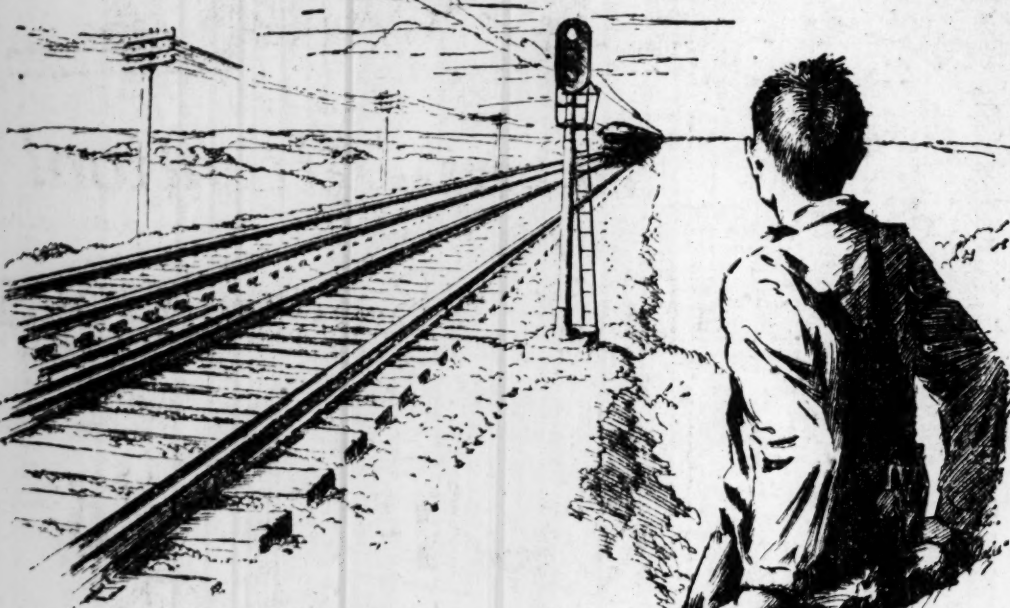

The total bonded indebtedness of the state is less than half of its indebtedness in 1877, when the total was more than $10,000,000. The indebtedness was cut down with the adoption of a new constitution. The INDUSTRIAL MEETING 500 Expected To Attend April Convention.

More than 500 industrial leaders from all points in the south are expected to attend the fourth annual industrial conference to be held at the Biltmore hotel on April 11 and 12.

total now is $4,881,202, which includes bonds issued by various state educational institutions.

Wider Horizons

WHAT lies beyond? That is the quest which drives men on—over the horizon to greater, better things.

The farmer's boy watches the express train glide away into the distance and wonders what lies beyond. Some day it will take him to the State University where he will learn the science of agriculture.

Already the drudgery of tilling the soil has been lifted by modern equipment, which the steel rails have brought. The day of the business-farmer is here.

Along all lines horizons are widening as the people of the South take full measure of their opportunities.

From the Northern Gateways at Washington, Cincinnati and Louisville... from the Western Gateways at St. Louis and Memphis... to the Ocean Ports of Norfolk, Charleston, Savannah, Brunswick and Jacksonville... and the Gulf Ports of Mobile and New Orleans... the Southern Serves the South.

And in the life of almost every citizen in this section, the Southern, which carries so large a portion of the South's commerce and travel, has played a part in creating wider horizons.

PRICE 30 CENTS

Your colds have cost us $1800

Never had Tom seen the Big Chief so angry. As item after item was brought up for review, Tom's words came out in singsong explanation: "I was sick at home with a cold that day."

Poor Tom! How those words hummed through his head, as Mr. Mason suddenly blurted out, "Your colds have cost us exactly $1800. I'm a humane man, or long ago you'd have received your notice. Don't you know you must take care of yourself? That you can't merely wait for a cold to wear out? Do something about it. And quick, too."

What did Mr. Mason himself do for colds, that he never missed a day at the office all winter? One simple thing: at the very first hint of a cold—chilliness, headache, soreness in swallowing, or tickling throat—he took GROVE'S BROMO QUININE.

Easy to take, pleasantly laxative, tonic and stimulating, quick and certain in results, it is the world's outstanding cold remedy. . . . When you want to beat a cold quick, emphasize GROVE'S, in asking for GROVE'S BROMO QUININE. Price 30c.

No More Piles

Thousands Bless Dr. Leonhardt, the Specialist Who Discovered This Common Sense Remedy.

If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the misery of piles, it's because you haven't heard of the new treatment known as Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID.

This Doctor's treatment is internal. By experimenting for years he discovered the exact cause of piles and then went further and compounded a remedy that would remove the cause.

Dr. Leonhardt wants every sufferer to benefit by his discovery and so that there will be no doubting or delay, Jacobs drug stores and all druggists are authorized to sell HEM-ROID.

On that honorable basis every sufferer should secure a package of Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID today. (Adv.)

MYSTERY SURROUNDS TWO CHICAGO KILLINGS

Kidnaping Plots, Threats of Death and Extortion in Cases.

Chicago, March 20.—(P)—Two men were killed last night in separate slayings, one by a bullet, the other by blows from a piece of pipe; and each crime was marked by mystery and unusual circumstances.

The Poncy Inn case in Cicero, in front of which William McSwiggan, assistant state's attorney, was shot dead in one of Cook county's most baffling crimes, was the place of the first killing of the night. William J. Vercoe, 51, a man of good reputation, was shot through the back of the head.

County police gave this explanation: "Vercoe strayed into a tough spot and spoke out of turn." Only one shot was fired. It entered Vercoe's head behind the left ear.

Vercoe was head of a fuel oil corporation. Why he was in the Poncy Inn cafe was not clear, especially

3 Glasses Water Help Constipation

Just one glass of water is not enough—3 glasses should be taken one hour before breakfast. This amount washes out the small intestine and stimulates the large bowel. Start with one glass and gradually take more. A much better washing-out is produced by adding a spoonful of simple glycerine, saline compound, known as Adlerika, to one glass. Adlerika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel and brings out foul matter which may have poisoned you for months and which you would never believe was in your system.

"After using Adlerika I feel better than for 20 years. All impurities were eliminated."—J. R. Puckett.

"I could not get bowel action without taking something. Adlerika helped at once and now I have no more trouble."—Mrs. Wm. Daum.

"In the treatment of intestinal disorders, Adlerika has no equal."—Dr. A. J. Lancaster.

Give your stomach and bowels a REAL cleansing with Adlerika and see how good you feel! Just ONE spoonful gives wonderful relief in chronic constipation. GAS bloating, sour stomach and sick headache. No matter what you have tried for your stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. At leading druggists. Send for FREE checkboard. ADLERIKA, Dept. A-37, St. Paul, Minn. (adv.)

Louise DuPre, Film Star, Weds New York Engineer

WON FAME AS PICKFORD'S DOUBLE

Stamford, Conn., March 20.—(Special.)—Miss Louise DuPre Eady, a moving picture actress with the Pathé people and known in her profession as Louise DuPre, was married here this afternoon to Major Arthur Bates Goodwin, of the Fifth Avenue hotel.

The ceremony was performed by Justice of the Peace Peter T. Dondlinger.

Miss Eady, or DuPre, is the daughter of William C. Eady and Nancy Dobbins Eady, of Atlanta, Ga. In her picture work she has played ingenue parts, and understudies for Mary Pickford.

Major Goodwin, a civil engineer by profession, is connected with the New York City Bureau of Engineers. His father, the late Robert Goodwin, was also an engineer. His mother, Mrs. Ella Bates Goodwin, lives in Yonkers, N. Y.

Major Goodwin served overseas during the World War with the 68th Regiment of Engineers. He is commander of Borough President post of the American Legion of New York. It is his second marriage. The first having ended in divorce.

Miss DuPre is best known in the screen world for her work as a double for Miss Pickford. She lived in Atlanta before entering the moving picture field. She went to school for several years in Greenville, S. C.

Ensign William Cooper, of the United States navy air corps, who has been spending a two-week furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Sidney Cooper, of 880 Ponce de Leon avenue, will leave this morning for Norfolk, Va., where he will be stationed for the next few months. Ensign Cooper, originally from Savannah, was graduated from the United States naval academy in 1926 and entered the air service two years later. He obtained his pilot's license in January of this year and has approximately 300 flying hours to his credit. He received his orders to report to Norfolk while stationed at the naval air base at Pensacola, Fla.

Captain Frank M. Hawks, noted aviator and holder of the transcontinental non-stop flight record, arrived at Candler field at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning, expecting to reach Houston, Texas, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Captain Hawks, with his wife and P. J. O'Connell, his mechanic, reached Atlanta late Tuesday afternoon on a hop from Washington to Houston.

Repair and service facilities, on a national scale heretofore only accorded to the more popular motor cars, recently have been established by Wright Aeronautical Corporation, manufacturers of the famous Wright aviation motors. Thirty-six depots where authorized spare parts and service may be obtained for the Wright "Whirlwind" and its smaller "Whirlwind" and "Cyclone" models are used by most of the larger air mail and transport operators in this country. The famous J5 "Whirlwind," used by Lindbergh and many other noted fliers, is standard in the "Mailing" planes operated on the New York-Atlanta-Tampa-Miami air-mail route of Pitcairn Aviation, Inc., which company has opened an authorized service station at Richard E. Byrd field, at Richmond, Va.

Eleven railroads now offer air-rail passenger accommodations, according to the American Air Transport Association. Under agreements with the plane carriers, the roads sell through tickets for the combination service, the aircraft operators providing bus service between the rail and air terminals. A Chicago-Detroit air passenger line has just entered an arrangement with a rail service to the east whereby one lower berth is reserved nightly in Chicago for the rail trip from Detroit to New York city. The trip from Chicago is made by plane and passengers have 18-hour service between the largest and second largest cities.

Cabin planes with passenger capacities ranging from 6 to 20 comprise the line of aerial Pullmans now being turned out to meet a pressing demand and this class represents a large section of the 107 planes that are to be shown at the second annual All-American aircraft show, opening in Detroit on April 6. The largest cabin ship made, the 20-passenger Keystone Patrician, will be unable to enter the show building on account of its size but will be placed on exhibit at one of the local airports throughout the show.

CALIF. UTILITY QUIZ RECORDS ARE FILED

Washington, March 20.—(P)—Reports from a California senate committee investigation of campaign expenditures by public utility interests in that state's water and power act initiatives were placed today in the record of the federal trade commission's inquiry into publicity activities of public power utilities.

Only a brief hearing was held by the commission and Robert E. Healy, commission counsel, decided not to examine either of the two witnesses—W. L. Frost and H. L. Cornish, both of Los Angeles—who were scheduled for today's inquiry. He said that Frost, who is a former president of the Pacific Coast Electrical Association, the state branch of the National Electric Light Association, and a member of the advisory committee of the California Electrical Bureau, probably will appear as a witness tomorrow or Friday.

Cornish will not be summoned, Healy announced, because his information was covered in his testimony before the California senate committee. The commission also postponed the appearance tomorrow of A. F. Hock, enbeamer, of San Francisco, president of the Pacific Gas & Electric Company, until April 16. Another witness for tomorrow, Russell H. Ballard, of Los Angeles, chairman of the public policy committee of the National Electric Light Association, was excused from appearance because of illness.

The report of the California senate committee after an investigation in 1923 of the previous year's water and power initiative stated that $991,395.73 had been expended in the campaign.

MAN FROM THE RANKS MAY HEAD TAMMANY

New York, March 20.—(P)—With district leaders determined that the next Tammany chieftain shall come from the ranks, Martin G. McCue, a former prizefighter, and John F. Curry, one-time insurgent, appeared today as leading candidates to succeed George W. Olvany.

A caucus has been called for tomorrow, at which the Braves are expected to settle upon the man who will be elected chairman when the executive committee meets Friday to take final action on Olvany's resignation and pick his successor.

Both McCue and Curry qualify under the dictum that the new leader must come from the ranks. McCue, who is clerk of the surrogate's court, is a leader in the twelfth assembly district. Curry, commissioner of records, is a fifth assembly district leader. He opposed Mayor Walker's candidacy in the last municipal election, but now is understood to be friendly toward the mayor.

The call for a caucus was issued yesterday after a meeting of 15 leaders called together by Thomas M. Farley, county clerk.

After the meeting Farley said the leaders had decided definitely to demand a leader from among the members of the executive committee and to oppose any attempt to elevate an outsider.

Meanwhile Mayor Walker, who is considered to have most at stake in the choice of a new chief because of his expected candidacy for re-election, continued to confer with democratic leaders regarding the situation.

Former Governor Smith arrived in the city during the day but refused to discuss the Tammany situation and as far as was learned took no action regarding the selection of Olvany's successor.

CANADIAN POPULATION SUFFERS SHRINKAGE

Parliament Member Calls It
Challenge to Government.

Ottawa, March 20.—(P)—The assertion that Canada is facing an "appalling" shrinkage in population was made in the house of commons yesterday by H. H. Stevens, conservative member of Vancouver Centre.

"From 1921 to 1928," he said, "we lost, in numbers, all the immigrants who came to Canada in addition to 240,000 of our native born."

He declared this condition a challenge to the government and to parliament.

Mr. Stevens declared the 1921 census showed a population of 8,788,000.

During the 1921-28 period, he said, there were 962,000 immigrants and 1,030,000 births. With an allowance for $24,000 deaths during the seven-year period he declared the population of the Dominion today should be 10,800,000 people. Instead, he said, according to the bureau of statistics, the total population is 9,655,000, a shrinkage of 1,210,000 people in the last seven years.

The accuracy of Mr. Stevens' figures was challenged by C. A. Dunning, minister of railways, who pointed out that while the 1921 figures cited were an actual count, the 1928 figures were a mere estimate. Mr. Stevens, asserted, however, that he had been furnished the 1928 figures by the Dominion bureau of statistics and believed they represented a fair estimate. He agreed that the condition was not peculiar to the present government but thought it had been aggravated in recent years.

Escape of Two Convicts Seen as Logical Result Of Spy System by Borah

Senator Cites Clever Use of Fake Court Orders by Notorious Prisoners at Leavenworth.

BY BASIL MANLEY.

Washington, D. C., March 20.—(Special.)—Release of two notorious convicts, Hays Van Gorder and Von Esch, from Leavenworth penitentiary on fake court orders is regarded by Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, as the natural and inevitable result of the use of false commitment papers and irregular methods of releasing prisoners by the department of justice in connection with its system of employing spies and undercover agents in the federal prisons.

Van Gorder, whose escape from the Leavenworth penitentiary was effected through a clever forgery of court documents, is now back in prison but Von Esch, who escaped with him, is still at liberty.

Borah Not Surprised.
"I am not at all surprised to learn that clever prisoners have taken advantage of the irregularities involved in the spy system to effect their escape," Senator Borah said when the correspondent for The Constitution today showed him a dispatch containing this news. "It is exactly what I foresaw as an inevitable result of the methods employed in releasing prisoners."

Undercover agents into the federal prisons and obtaining their release without the formal procedure of pardon or parole.
"It is sufficient evidence that, apart from its un-American character, the spy system must be condemned as affording opportunities to clever and dangerous prisoners to effect their release by the use of fraudulent documents. If the department of justice goes into the business of procuring the commitment of prisoners by methods which are not sanctioned by law, we need not be surprised if prisoners take advantage of the means of escape which are thus offered to them."

The fact that Van Gorder was able to float a large batch of bogus money orders soon after his release from prison appears to have been due in large measure to the regulations of the department of justice prohibiting the wardens from giving out any information regarding release of prisoners. This regulation is understood to have been imposed to avoid the answer to inquiries regarding release of undercover agents.

When Van Gorder was released he immediately resumed his old task of passing forged money orders. His methods were recognized and he was immediately suspected, but police and postal authorities could not believe that he was responsible as they were confident that Van Gorder was still serving his term at Leavenworth. Under the old regulation proper notification of the release of notorious criminals like Van Gorder and Von Esch would have been given out, while under the present system wardens are forbidden to make any voluntary statements in such cases or to reply to inquiries.

Interest is expressed here in the fact that these two notorious criminals effected their release on March 2, while Thomas B. White, warden of the Leavenworth penitentiary, was absent on a trip to Washington. This coincides substantially with the period during which Mrs. Willebrandt was leaving her plans to bring about the removal of Warden John W. Snook from the federal penitentiary at Atlanta. It is reported here, although without confirmation from officials of the department of justice, that Willebrandt was endeavoring to Washington to ascertain whether or not he was willing to co-operate with Mrs. Willebrandt in operation of the spy system.

It is expected that the conditions under which Van Gorder and Von Esch obtained their release will be investigated by the senatorial judiciary committee in connection with the proposed investigation of the operation of the spy system which has been urged by Senators Borah, Norris and George.

4 HOODED BANDITS ROB PAY CAR OF $1,800 IN CASH

New Orleans, March 20.—(AP)—Four hooded bandits forced a United Fruit company pay car into the curb in the business section today and escaped with $1,800 in cash after wounding Wallace Sebatier, 53, a guard.

Three shots were fired before Chris Comper, chauffeur, drove the pay car into the curb. One of the shots which are thus offered to them."

The bandits then jumped back into their sedan and sped up Magazine street, firing one shot at Morris Levine, Camp street furniture dealer, who was crossing the street, but the shot went wide.

Several blocks away the bandits' car went dead, and the four robbers, with hoods discarded, forced a Fordson company chauffeur from his car and continued their escape in this machine.

G. B. Black, a witness of the hold-up, said he saw the men after they removed the hoods and could identify them. Three of them, he said, were armed with pistols and a fourth with a sawed off shotgun.

STIMSON ARRIVES FROM P. I. READY FOR WASHINGTON

San Francisco, March 20.—(AP)—Henry L. Stimson, governor general of the Philippines who, as secretary of state, will direct the foreign policy of the United States under President Herbert Hoover, arrived here today from Manila enroute to Washington. After a year in the Philippines, from which vantage point he studied not only this country's colonial problems, but its relations with the entire far east as well, Mr. Stimson came home eager to assume the new duties to which President Hoover has assigned him. But he said his coming was not wholly devoid of regret, as he left behind him many fine friendships made during his tour of duty.

Testimony Starts In Walker Inman Divorce Suit Today

Reno, Nev., March 20.—(Special.)—A jury of 12 men was selected today to hear the divorce suit of Walker P. Inman against his wife and the taking of testimony will start tomorrow morning.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Inman faced each other in court today and he took considerable interest in the selection of members of the jury. Attorneys for both sides apparently desired to keep away from the jury. Mrs. Inman arrived here yesterday and was accompanied to court today by four attorneys, while Inman is also represented by two attorneys.

The case has attracted a large crowd to the courtroom, scores of divorce seekers being present, attracted by the prominence of the couple and the prediction that the testimony will be of a sensational nature. It is expected that the taking of testimony and the reading of depositions will last for a week.

RELIGIOUS CONFERENCE LISTED FOR GA. UNIV.

Fifth Annual Meeting Will Be Held at Athens
April 12.

BY MRS. JOHN DREWRY.

Athens, Ga., March 20.—(Special.)—As a means of assembling parents, pastors and friends of the University of Georgia students on the campus for a consideration of the spiritual and religious life of the youth of Georgia, the fifth annual religious welfare conference will be held at the University April 12.

Dr. Charles Whitney Gilkey, dean of the new chapel at the University of Chicago, which was endowed by John D. Rockefeller, will be the principal speaker. A graduate of Harvard university, Dr. Gilkey has degrees from the Union Theological seminary, Berlin, Marburg, Glasgow, Edinburgh and Oxford. He has been university preacher at Harvard, Yale, Princeton and Cornell.

During former years the religious welfare conference has brought the following outstanding men to the Athens campus: Newton D. Baker, secretary of war under Woodrow Wilson; Dr. George E. Vincent, president of the Rockefeller foundation; Raymond D. Fessick, publisher and editor of the League of Nations; and Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, former president of the Federated Churches of Christ, and radio preacher.

Under the auspices of the religious welfare conference during the past four years has been a steady increase in the number of pastors and parsons attending the conference. The sessions in which the preachers, faculty members, students and business and professional men have participated. Several thousand people heard the addresses delivered on the Athens campus last spring by Dr. Cadman.

Sponsored jointly by the university and the University Y. M. C. A., the religious welfare conference has four aims: 1. To cultivate and broaden the religious life of the students at the University of Georgia; 2. To enlist more active co-operation and interests of ministers, parents and church laymen in the work which is being done for the religious welfare of the students at the University of Georgia; 3. To emphasize that the University of Georgia desires that religious work be done among the students; and 4. To encourage the churches to see that this is their institution as well as that of the state, and that the churches feel their responsibility to the students of their respective denominations at the university.

Only annual commencement exercises in June eclipse the religious welfare conference as an occasion for ceremony and the assembling of large numbers of visitors on the campus. Principal exercises are held in Woodruff hall, a large building which accommodates some 6,000 people, to which the faculty proceeds in full academic regalia. Class exercises are suspended for the day.

In announcing Dr. Gilkey, Chancellor Charles M. Snelling named other speakers who will be heard at the university during the present session. Dr. Halford E. Luceck, professor of homiletics in Yale university, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon June 16 in connection with the 125th commencement of the university. Dr. Henry Suzzallo, formerly president of the University of Washington, and now a special representative of the Carnegie corporation, will make the baccalaureate address June 19. Dr. H. W. Chase, president of the University of North Carolina, will deliver the George Washington memorial address February 22.

WAR DEPARTMENT ASKS BIDS FOR NEW CAMP BARRACKS

Washington, March 20.—(AP)—Bids have been called for by the war department for construction of three barracks for the housing of a battalion of infantry at Camp McClellan, Ala., to be opened at that place April 13. The buildings will be of reinforced concrete with brick and tile walls and mission tile roofs.

REPARATION WORK WILL BE DROPPED DURING EASTER

Paris, March 20.—(AP)—The reparations experts committee has come to the conclusion that it will be unable to complete its work before Easter, and a recess will be taken from March 28 to April 3.

Lord Revelstoke, British delegate, today made his report on the proposed creation of a trustee reparations bank. It was heard by the experts in full committee with approval but has not yet been finally accepted. It appeared that there were a few wrinkles still remaining to be ironed out so an adjournment was taken until Monday afternoon.

MARIETTA A. M. E. BODY HELD AT CARTERSVILLE

Cartersville, Ga., March 20.—(Special.)—The Marietta district conference, today made his report on the proposed training convened in St. Luke's A. M. E. church in annual session here today. Dr. C. C. Ealey, pastor, presided. Dr. J. A. Hadley, of the district delivered the annual address and perfected the organization as follows:

Secretaries: Dr. R. J. Jefferson and Professor J. W. Porch, reporters to church periodicals: Rev. G. C. Thomas, I. Hargrove, R. H. Porter, W. M. Peave, William W. West, W. T. Cook, C. E. Ealey, Dr. J. A. Hadley, Secular Press reporters.

Marshals: Z. F. Shaw, H. W. Ware, A. W. Appleby.
The annual district love feast and the Holy Communion were observed and a sermon was delivered by Rev. L. J. Hamilton, of Kingston.

Dr. J. A. Hadley, and Dr. J. T. Wilkerson, presiding elder, of the Washington district celebrants, told how to organize a church membership for effective services and stewardship.

Evangelism education and missionary work extension work will be emphasized by the special workers of the conference.
The keynote sermon was preached by Dr. G. C. Thomas, of Acworth, here tonight. Music was given by the Acworth choir. The conference is largely attended and much interest is being shown in the work of the church. The various committees are headed by the following chairmen: I. Hargrove, G. W. Cook, W. M. Hill, W. M. West, W. T. Thornton, R. H. Porter, R. J. Jefferson.
On preachers for annual conference: R. J. Jefferson. On preachers for orders: G. C. Thomas, A. R. Cooper, M. M. Peace, Alice Chatman, L. D. Watts, missionaries of the church address the body today.

Planning Wire Fence Between Miss. and La.

Jackson, Miss., March 20.—(AP)—Possibility of the erection of a double wire fence between the states of Louisiana and Mississippi to prevent the spread of cattle tick from Louisiana was seen today in the statement of Representative Dan R. McGehee, of Franklin county, that he would offer a bill at the next session of the state legislature to reimburse counties for the fence.

For some time a fence has been agitated by officials, who claim Mississippi's tick free herds are in danger of reinfection by cattle coming over the line from Louisiana tick-infested areas.

Tick eradication measures are dominant subjects before the present special session of the Louisiana legislature.

48-HOUR AIR MAIL WILL OPEN TO MEXICO CITY

Los Angeles, March 20.—(AP)—A 48-hour air mail service between Pacific coast cities and Mexico City will be opened within six weeks, according to Milo Frank, of New York city, head of a syndicate of financiers which has been awarded the contract by the Mexican government.

The route, with its northern terminus at Tijuana and its southern depot at Tapachula, Chiapas, will traverse the intermediate cities of Mexicali, Nogales, Sonora and Mexico City. The air line will be approximately 2,200 miles and the service, which will be daily, will constitute the first air mail delivery from the northern Pacific coast of Mexico.

Associated with Frank are Arthur English, of Los Angeles; O. B. English, Chicago, and King Gillette, wealthy razor manufacturer. The technical men of the group are Captain Daniel Ellis, former United States army flier, and L. C. Balch and his son, Chalmers, of Los Angeles.

The company will be known as the Cia. De Transportes Aereos Latino Americanos.

BENNETT TALKS ACROSS ATLANTIC TO ILL DAUGHTER

Chicago, March 20.—(AP)—Richard Bennett, the actor, has heard no later than yesterday the voice of his daughter, Constance, from a Paris hospital tell him that she is not critically ill and that she will be out of the hospital within a week.

Alarmed by cable reports of her condition, Bennett called the hospital by trans-Atlantic telephone and was connected with his daughter. She said she had been suffering from pneumonia, and that her condition was so much improved that she expected to remain in the hospital only until next week. In a fortnight she plans to sail for New York to begin work under a contract calling for a series of "talking" pictures.

"Constance and Philip Plant are not divorced," Bennett said, "and they are not separated, either, for Phil was at her bedside when I called, and I talked with him."

Following are the undergraduates elected: Miss Rebecca Andrews, Augusta; Craig Barrow, Jr., Savannah; Miss Marjorie Bickers, Savannah; Joseph H. Holland, Atlanta; John S. Candler, II, Atlanta; Miss Martha J. Folsom, McRae; Miss Margaret Fortson, Athens; Guy C. Hamilton, Dalton; Miss Isabel Hanson, Smyrna; Miss Lucy Henry, Augusta; B. Harvey Hill, Atlanta; Milton P. Jamison, III, Athens; Alexander A. Lawrence, Jr., Savannah; Miss Rosina Pearl Augusta; Miss Eunice Stokely, Crawford; Stephen L. Upson, Athens.

MURDER THEORY KEEPS POLICE ON TRAIL OF 2

Popular Belief Held That Woman Was Victim of Short Circuit.

New Orleans, March 20.—(AP)—Fired with the belief that Mrs. Janet H. Baker was murdered before her body was burned to a crisp in her automobile in Audubon Park yesterday morning, the police tonight were bending their efforts to locate two men said to have been seen running from the flaming car.

While the police had been working on all leads, a belief had grown that Mrs. Baker was the victim of a short circuit in her closed sedan and that she was burned before she could escape.

Additional facts developed today have turned the entire murder squad of the police force toward the murder theory with orders to run down the fiend, who, they believe, strangled the woman, saturated the body and the inside of the car with gasoline and then set it off.

The prominence of the Baker family and the horror of the tragedy has aroused the interest of the whole community. Men acquaintances of the 54-year-old widow have been quizzed closely but tonight the police admitted they were far from an arrest.

Three Mexican Fliers Hop to Dayton, Ohio, En Route to Mexico

Middletown, Pa., March 20.—(AP)—Three Mexican fliers and their United States army pilot-guide left here in their three planes today for Wright field, Dayton, Ohio, en route to Mexico, where the machines will be used to combat the insurgent troops.

MABEL NORMAND AND LEW CODY, HER HUSBAND, BOTH ILL

Beverly Hills, Cal., March 20.—(AP) Mabel Normand, often described as the "hard luck" girl of the cinema firmament, and her husband, Lew Cody, well known in the movies, are critically ill, neither aware of the other's condition.

Miss Normand is in her palatial home here struggling against tuberculosis which has affected both lungs. For days "fever" has sapped her strength, her temperature staying at 102 degrees.

Attendees refrained from telling her that Cody, returned from New York, is attempting to recover from complete nervous prostration. It was feared the knowledge of her husband's illness might weaken the slender thread by which she clings to life.

Cody, in a health resort near San Bernardino, is kept in ignorance of his wife's condition, physicians fearing the effect worry might have on his weakened nerves. His illness followed influenza contracted in New York while he was arranging for a vaudeville tour of Europe.

SCARLET FEVER EPIDEMIC HITS BEREA COLLEGE

Berea, Ky., March 20.—(AP)—Doctors, nurses and volunteers have united to wage a battle against an epidemic of scarlet fever numbering 350 cases among 3,000 students at Berea college here. Dr. Gladys Dick, of Chicago, who with her husband discovered the anti-toxin for scarlet fever, arrived here today to assume charge of the situation.

The entire community surrounding the college is under quarantine and the disease has not spread to the town at large.
Twenty-five doctors, as many nurses and 50 volunteer helpers are assisting Dr. Dick today. No deaths have occurred.

GANG SLAYERS MURDER GUNMAN AND HIS WIFE

Experts Kill Murder Bunker
as He Sleeps Behind Bullet-Proof Door.

New York, March 20.—(AP)—Sam Sacco, who once bungled a murder job, was himself put on the spot today by a gang more expert in gunnery than he. He was killed and so was his wife, both trapped as they slept in mock security behind a bullet-proof door. The killers escaped.

Twelve years ago Antonio and Dominick De Luca were standing outside a Second avenue saloon when two men fired on them from a passing taxicab. Antonio shot into the cab and killed Joseph Sacco, for which he was tried and acquitted. Sam Sacco, arrested as the second occupant of the car, was convicted of assault with intent to kill and, because he already had served a prison term for burglary, was sentenced to 20 years as a second offender.

After receiving his freedom about six months ago, he married and moved to the Astoria apartment, where he and his wife were killed today. Apparently knowing that he walked in the shadow of sudden death he had fastened with extra bolts. But the gunmen today went through that door so hard they carried it off its hinges.

Southern Authors To Be Honored At Dinner by Writers' Club

Among the outstanding social events scheduled for today is the dinner that will be given by members of the Atlanta Writers' Club at 7 o'clock this evening at the Atlanta Athletic Club in honor of the notable group of southern authors who are in Atlanta attending the Southern Book exposition being sponsored this week by M. Rich & Bros. Co. Short talks will be made by a number of the distinguished honor guests, including an address by Julia Peterkin, renowned South Carolina novelist and author of the widely-read "Black April" and "Scarlet Sister Mary." An appropriate musical program has been arranged by Miss Helen Knox Spain, who will present Enrico Leide in several cello selections. The occasion will assemble several hundred members of Atlanta's literary contingent.

Another important event planned for this evening is the formal dance at the Druid Hills Golf Club, at which members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will be hosts. The occasion will celebrate the birthday of St. Patrick and will be attended by several hundred prominent Atlantans.

Beginning this evening at Brookhaven, the Capital City Country Club, a special Thursday evening dinner will be served, these weekly dinners to be a delightful form of entertainment throughout the spring and summer season. As soon as the weather permits, the management announces that dinner will be served on the spacious terrace of the beautiful new Brookhaven club, which will prove a popular rendezvous for Atlanta society.

Atlanta Girl Reserves Visit Macon Today.

The Atlanta Girl Reserves will go to Macon Saturday, March 23, to "spend the day" with the Girl Reserves there. All girls who are to go are requested to meet at the Y. W. C. A., 37 Auburn avenue, promptly at 7 o'clock, Saturday morning. A bus and cars will leave from the Y. W. C. A. Miss Daisy Hoover, secretary of the G. R. department; Mrs. James C. Holart, a member of the board of directors of the Y, and Miss Lucy Marvin Adams will go with the girls. Miss Adams will talk to the girls of both cities on "Charm and Personality." Macon Girl Reserves will give a welcome and the Atlanta Girl Reserves will give their response.

While they are having luncheon they will enjoy various stunts planned by the Macon girls. After luncheon they will divide according to committees and ride over the city on their way to Wesleyan college, where they will take a dip in the new Wesleyan pool. An informal tea, planned for 4 o'clock, Atlanta Girl Reserves will have charge of three discussions—social, publicity and program. The girls will leave for Atlanta at 5:30 o'clock.

Merry-Nine Club Met With Mrs. Littlejohn.

Mrs. B. C. Littlejohn, entertained the Merry-Nine Club yesterday afternoon at her home, 535 Lee street, the apartments being decorated with jonquils from the garden of Mrs. J. M. Gaul, of Jonesville, S. C., mother of the hostess.

The guests included Mesdames E. L. Dishoon, Daisy Matthews, Misses Lida Mae McKibben, Irene Williamson, Sarah Bankston, Bessie Bankston and Julia Bankston.

Miss Irene Williamson, president, presided over a short business session, after which bridge was enjoyed. High score was won by Mrs. E. L. Dishoon and the consolation prize won by Miss Irene Williamson.

Mrs. Daisy Matthews, entertainer of the club at the Robin Hood Tea room in April.

Women Voters Invite Parents and Teachers.

A special invitation to the Parent-Teacher organizations of the city is issued by the Atlanta League of Women Voters to its March educational meeting, to be held at the chamber of commerce Friday, March 22, at 8 o'clock. The subject of the meeting will be discussed at this meeting, and several informative addresses along the line of bonds will be made. League members are expected at Friday's meeting and non-members are invited. Following the addresses on the subject of bonds the meeting will open for general discussion.

Springhill Club Met With Mrs. Lovejoy.

Smyrna, Ga., March 20.—Mrs. Paul Lovejoy, entertained the Springhill Club last Monday at her home in Smyrna, and took action upon the improvement and beautifying of the road-looking bridge along the Dixie highway and interurban railway between Springhill and Anderson stop. Members contributed shrubbery; the interurban line supplying laborers, and two others were supplied by the club to smooth out the way and clear the rubbish. Mrs. Paul Lovejoy entertained at luncheon, Mrs. C. G. Green, of Smyrna, president of the Cobb County Federation, gave an interesting talk on garden work. She told of her recent visit in Canada and that a resident there wanted to know if she lived near that beautiful spot, "Springhill," in Georgia. Mrs. Mary J. Turner, of the Garden Club of Marietta, gave a helpful talk. Mrs. M. L. Davenport, of Springhill, read a short poem entitled "Reality."

Junior Chamber Gives St. Patrick's Dance.

All arrangements have been completed for the Junior Chamber of Commerce St. Patrick's dance, to be held Thursday evening, March 21, at Druid Hills Golf Club, from 9:30 to 1 o'clock. The affair will be one of the most colorful as well as enjoyable ever put on by the Junior Chamber.

The committee has arranged for the decoration of the club, and favors in keeping with the season will be distributed at intervals during the dance. An eleven-piece orchestra has been secured and every feature has been added to make the affair most enjoyable for those who attend. The officers and directors of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will be the honor guests of the occasion.

The committee in charge are: Luther S. Turner, chairman; Frank Hill, vice chairman; Joe W. Ray, George R. Vance, Henry Turner, Earl Mann, Harry McDonald, Joe Webb, Ed Robertson, M. W. Middleton, Claude Gamble, Chatty Sullivan and E. M. Stuhlinger.

Miss Van Duzer Weds Mr. Gamble In Chicago, Ill.

Chicago, Ill., March 20.—Mrs. H. E. Van Duzer, of Rock Island, Ill., announces the marriage of her daughter, Anna Marie, to Slade Le Blont Gamble, of Chicago, formerly of Atlanta, Ga. The ceremony was performed by Dr. John Timothy Stone Monday, March 18, in the chapel of the Fourth Presbyterian church, of Chicago, in the presence of the families and close friends. Immediately after the ceremony the guests were entertained by Mrs. Van Duzer at a wedding breakfast at the Stevens hotel.

The bride, a talented violinist, is a graduate of the Chicago Musical College, where she won several scholarships with Leon Sametini, one of the country's foremost artist teachers. For past year she has been engaged in numerous musical activities in Chicago. In addition to directing the Van Duzer Concert Trio, which has been heard many times this season, she has had several solo appearances and has played two seasons with the Chicago Woman's Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Mme. Ethel Leginska. Prior to her career in Chicago the bride, who comes from a well-known Rock Island family, was prominent in Tri-City musical circles.

Mr. Gamble is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. O. A. Gamble, and a member of a family long prominent in the history of Georgia and the south. He is a graduate in mechanical engineering of the Georgia School of Technology and holds the professional degree of industrial gas engineer from the University of Illinois. Mr. Gamble is associated with the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois.

Mr. and Mrs. Gamble will reside at the Broadmoor Apartment hotel in Chicago.

THE SKINNY GUY AND TOMMYHAWK ARE GETTING ALONG FINE TODAY, AFTER THEIR COLD BATH IN THE RIVER YESTERDAY. TODAY AFTER OUR MEETING WE ALL WENT OUTSIDE. BILL DABBY, JERRY AND I STARTED A GAME OF MARBLES.

THE OTHER FELLOWS BUILT A FIRE ON THE BANK. ALL OF A SUDDEN WE HEARD A BIRD. WE ALL LOOKED UP IN THE TREE AND THERE WAS THE PRETTIEST RED BIRD I EVER SAW, SINGING LIKE HE WAS GLAD, AND IT MADE US ALL GLAD, TOO.

OUR CAPTAIN SAID, 'IT'S NOT CERTAIN WEATHER SPRING IS HERE OR NOT, RED BIRDS AIN'T THE ONES TO GO BY, BLUE JAYS ARE THE BIRDS THAT TELL FOR SURE WHEN SPRING IS COMING.' WELL THAT STARTED AN ARGUMENT RIGHT AWAY.

EVERY ONE OF US HAD A DIFFERENT BIRD, BUT OUR CAPTAIN STUCK TO BLUE JAYS. 'BLUE BIRDS ARE THE ONES THAT BRING SPRING,' HE SAID. SO WE DIDN'T ARGUE ABOUT IT—WHEN OUR CAPTAIN SAYS SOMETHING, MOST ALWAYS HE IS RIGHT.

The Mirror of the Mode

BY MARY MARSHALL

March winds and April showers bring forth May flowers and also a crop of spring raincoats, umbrellas and other rainy-day accessories that nowadays are almost as gay as the May flowers. Even if they are of dark or dull coloring they are nothing to make a woman sigh twice—once for the inconvenience of the rain and once for the fact that she has to wear dowdy and uninteresting rainy-day clothes.

In Paris the favorite type of spring raincoat is of colored crepe de Chine lined with lightweight woolen material, which makes the garment warm enough even when worn over a thin frock. The French idea seems to be to disguise raincoats as much as possible—to keep up the illusion that the sun is shining and the skies are blue even when heavens meet earth in penetrating rain and mist. "Sunny France" must not seem like a misnomer. So from France come all sorts of little contrivances to make light of rainy days—umbrellas that fold up so that they may be carried in a hand bag, waterproofed materials of all sorts.

The idea in this country—especially among the younger generation—seems to be to face the issue squarely and candidly. They have no objection to wearing a raincoat that is a raincoat and could not by any stretch of the imagination be mistaken for anything but a raincoat. They realize that with their slender, straight young bodies they look decidedly fit and swaggy in this type of garment.

And just a word in passing about the new luck-in-blossom. At Cannes and other French resorts they are wearing them of linen or cotton material actually starched. But don't unless you want to seem very old-fashioned call them shirt-waists, although they do resemble very closely the garments that were generally so designated some years ago. Call them shirt-blouses, but not shirt-waists.

It is really amazing to see how much more becoming a dark silk or woolen frock becomes when you dress it up with one of the new light lingerie lace or chiffon collars. As you know the French dressmakers are using accessory collars much more than they used to have for some time. This week I have ready for you a diagram pattern of the new panel collar that dresses up a plain frock in a most gratifying manner. If you would like a copy of this pattern with working directions and a sketch of the collar as actually worn, please send me your stamped, self-addressed envelope and I will be glad to send it to you.

This spring raincoat is made of waterproof navy-blue crepe de Chine and lined with gray kasch. The belt is fastened with a silver buckle.

If you would like some of the following circulars just check them, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for them, and they will be sent to you promptly.

A QUEER INTERRUPTION.
BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

He who first for safety tries
Proves that he at least is wise.
—Peter Rabbit.

Peter Rabbit had been sitting for some time near the old stone wall on the edge of the Old Orchard, gossiping with Wanderer the Evening Grosbeak. Wanderer had been telling Peter of some of the people he had met in his travels and Peter had been so interested that he had quite forgotten where he was. Suddenly he was startled by a noise. It was an odd noise. Some one was coming along through the bushes and making a lot of noise about it. Peter looked around hastily. He caught sight of some one moving close to the old stone wall. Peter didn't wait to see who it was. He bounded away to a certain hole between the stones of the old wall. Not until he reached it did he sit up to see who it was that had frightened him.

Peter learned when he was very young that the one thing and the only thing to do is to make sure of safety first and investigate afterward. He could safely sit up beside that hole and satisfy his curiosity. If it was no one he needed to fear, it would be all right. If it was an enemy, it would be all right, too, for he would be where he could dive down to safety.

Peter blinked. He blinked several times. He looked back over to the tree where Wanderer the Evening Grosbeak was sitting, and Wanderer was blinking. Then Peter looked back at this noisy intruder. He didn't know whether to be afraid or not. The tail looked like the tail of Jimmy Skunk. So did the coat look like Jimmy's coat. But this visitor's head was unlike any head that Peter had ever seen anywhere. He didn't know what to make of it at all. He was afraid. Yes, sir, he was afraid. He crept down into that hole between the stones. Then he turned with just his head out and watched this strange creature.

Never had Peter seen anyone act as this stranger was acting. He would back up until he backed into a bush or a little tree, then he would paw at his head with his two front paws. Then he would move ahead. But as he moved he continually bumped into things. Every few minutes he would stop to paw at his head. Truly, it was a strange and rather frightening creature that Peter was looking at.

Peter's fears soon were overcome by curiosity. Apparently this stranger wasn't paying any attention to anything or anybody except his own affairs. Suddenly Peter's eyes flew very wide open. That was Jimmy Skunk!

"For goodness sake, Jimmy Skunk! What has happened to you?" demanded Peter.

"What has happened to you?" demanded Peter.

"What has happened to you?" demanded Peter.

"What has happened to you?" demanded Peter.

"What has happened to you?" demanded Peter.

"What has happened to you?" demanded Peter.

"What has happened to you?" demanded Peter.

"What has happened to you?" demanded Peter.

Mayor and Mrs. Ragsdale Honored by West End Club.

The Saint Patrick party at the West End Woman's Club Tuesday evening given by the president, Mrs. Chester Johnson, was one of the most delightful entertainments of the season. The clubhouse was beautifully decorated in shamrock and other Saint Patrick greens. The outstanding feature of the evening was the unveiling of the pictures of Mayor and Mrs. I. N. Ragsdale, who donated the site on which the club building stands. Mr. and Mrs. Ragsdale were introduced by Mrs. Chester Johnson, Mrs. Ragsdale replying that the place was especially dear to her, as it was familiar ground on which she had played in her childhood days. She feels that the West End Woman's Club house is something her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Huff, would be glad to have as a mark of honor, on the old homestead. A number of officers of other West End organizations were present, and were introduced by Mrs. Johnson, each making short talks. Among those speaking were Hewitt Chambers, president of the West End Business Men's Club; Hugh Couch, of College Park, and Mr. Ray, president of Cascade Heights Club. After a short program, the members of the Rhythm Kings orchestra were introduced, and they furnished the music for the evening which was spent in dancing and playing bridge.

At the West End Woman's Club dance Friday evening, Miss Elaine Settle was voted the most popular girl. The regular dance will be given again Friday evening from 9 to 12 o'clock with Mrs. Chester Johnson and her committee in charge.

And anyone could see how helpless he was. It was a strange interruption to Wanderer's talk about the little people of the West. And Wanderer knew no more about what to do than Peter did. Neither of them could help Jimmy Skunk.

amental "Russian Dance" by Hoffman in a group of violin solos by Charles Fry with Miss Elizabeth Hopson as accompanist.

A group of short but unusual songs by Russian composers was artistically sung by Mrs. Benjamin Plasz, accompanied by Miss Edla Bartholomew. Perhaps the most fascinating of this group was "A Dissonance" by Borodin, in which an unpleasant sound was made lovely by the artist. "The Wounded Birch" by Gretchaninov, portrayed the emotional and appealing strain of Russian music.

A fitting climax to the program was a "Suite for Two Pianos" by Arensky, played by Mrs. Charles Downman and Mrs. Charles Chalmers with such perfect ensemble that from the beautiful and ethereal "Romanza" through the light, airy, graceful and melodic "Waltz" to the end of the brilliant, sparkling and perfectly synchronized "Polonaise," the audience was held in rapture, and at W. F. Dykes.

Habersham D. A. R. Holds Meeting.
John T. Boileau delivered an address on thrift and conservation at the Joseph Habersham chapter, D. A. R., meeting Wednesday afternoon at Habersham Hall.

Mrs. Fred A. Self sponsored the program and Mrs. Irving S. Thomas, regent, presided.

A musical program was presented by Mrs. Lamar Elberidge.

Reports from the state conference were given by the regent, Mrs. Thomas, and Mrs. Julian Jones, Mrs. T. J. Ripley, Mrs. H. C. Ashland, Mrs. E. C. Ward, Mrs. J. C. Gentry and Mrs. W. F. Dykes.

OBOY BREAD

WHY do we eat? That's easy, of course. Because we must. Because eating is enjoyable. Therefore food must be nourishing to supply strength and appetizing to provide pleasure. Oboy bread qualifies on both scores. It is a real health food—crammed with muscle-making, body-building elements. And it is a richly flavorful food. Its flaky golden crust is alluring just to look at. Its snow-white center is smooth and fine and sweet. When bread is such an important part of your diet, you ought to have the very best. Say "Oboy" to your grocer. He has it.

DEAR CHILDREN:

I am mighty glad I came to Atlanta—I met so many children. Didn't we have a good time!—All my Pied Piper shoes are on the toy shelves in Muse's Shoeland now . . . so every child in Atlanta can wear Pied Piper shoes Easter. This morning I am flying back to Pied Piper Island, to tell all the Piper folks about YOU. And they will set to work like busy bees making more and more shoes for the Boys and Girls of Atlanta. Keep looking into Muse's Shoeland and see these shoes as fast as they come flying to Muse's—which is ALL THE TIME!

THE MEDBURY FORT MURDER

By GEORGE LIMNELLIUS

SYNOPSIS

Major Hugh Preece of the Royal Army Medical Corps has just been transferred from Bath to Fort Medbury, which is not far from London. He is about to leave his office one day to take his wife and children for a ride when Lieutenant Lepore is summoned and has to stay and examine him. The lieutenant is suffering from a mild disorder and the major prescribes for him. After the young officer leaves, Major Preece remembers that he has been him before under embarrassing circumstances. The visit puts the major in a reminiscent mood. He recalls his first love affair with Prunella Lake, his first wife, who was a London stage; then his being sent to West Africa and his unhappiness at parting from Prunella. On his return to London Preece again meets Prunella. He asks her to marry him and she refuses. Shortly afterward she marries Trephine Roman, Preece's niece, Claire Chubb, sister of one of his West African associates. A few years later Prunella and Hugh meet at Rutland, where they spend the night together. Preece remembers seeing Lieutenant Lepore in the hotel corridor as he leaves Prunella's room in the morning. A few days after the incident, Lepore's professional call on Major Preece the young officer invites the older one into his room for a nightcap and tells him he is aware of his affair with Lady Roman. Preece has an impulse to kill him, but refrains. He threatens to expose him, at which Lepore laughs. As Preece leaves Lepore's room, Lieutenant Harris calls to him and asks him to come into his room. He tells Preece that he has just lost out at cards to Lepore and the latter is pressing him for the debt. Preece goes to his own room and there reads a letter from Prunella in which she says that Lepore had written asking to see her. She tells Preece that he must get rid of Lepore.

INSTALLMENT XVI. THE HOUR BEFORE DAWN.

Lepore lay down again in bed, leaving the light burning. Damn this asthma! cough! You never knew when it was going to take you. Very awkward it might be! Suppose he had an attack that night in Sylvia Wape's bedroom! Help! It was bad enough as it was. The little fool fainting about the place. Yet he had thought it was a safe thing. At the theater her hot little moist hand had returned his squeeze, and in the taxi coming home when she had been wedged firmly between himself and Wape he had ventured bolder familiarities, and on the landing outside her room she had responded to his kiss. Of course, he remembered suddenly Wape had been staying at Leinster Gardens this last weekend and Sylvia was home, too. Had she told him anything? Wape had certainly looked devilish queer when he had finally said good-night—about 2 o'clock this morning. Unlike him to come in like that and head seemed to be sort of—swinging. Hm! Well! There it was. Awkward to have a row with Wape. Besides, he still hoped, with any luck, to complete the conquest of Sylvia. He switched out the light once more and snuggled down in the bed-clothes. He felt drowsiness stealing over him. Just before he fell asleep he remembered what that curious noise which had preceded his coming home resembled. It was exactly like some one suppressing a violent sneeze.

All was still in the fort. The sky was overcast and a light, chilly rain was falling. The moon had already sunk. The yellow gas jet over the archway entrance threw but a feeble glimmer, scarcely sufficient to illumine the far side of the drawbridge, not sufficient to mark the dark waters of the river now running out swiftly, gurgling and chucking, to meet the sea. The solitary sentry paced to and fro, his feet resounding with a hollow echo over the drawbridge and clicking sharply on the cobblestones under the archway. A little cold wind sighed along the river bank, stirring some clumps of sedge and hair cut at all they rattled, dismally, like the bones of a skeleton. All nature seemed to pause and listen with held breath for some first fatal movement.

It was the chill, dark hour before dawn. Sergeant Nuthall of the county police evidently rejoiced in an easy conscience. He slept serenely. He was a bachelor and had his quarters in the little police station in the High street of Bitterne. On a table by the side of his bed stood a telephone. It was the persistent ringing of the telephone bell that at last roused the sergeant from his obviously virtuous slumbers. He stretched out a hand and placed the receiver to his ear, at the same time glancing at the massive silver half hunter lying among the assorted articles which had been ejected from his pockets the previous night. It was exactly half past five. "Hello!"

HUSBAND TAKES GEMS; DIVORCE GIVEN WOMAN

Scollard Steals Wife's Val- uables; Is Arrested at Her Direction.

Bellingham, Wash., March 20.—(AP) A final divorce decree has been granted here to the wealthy Mrs. Sarah E. Smith Scollard from George F. Scollard, under arrest at Vancouver, B. C., charged with the theft from Mrs. Scollard of bonds and jewelry valued at nearly $200,000. Mrs. Scollard is expected to resume the name of Sarah E. Smith.

Scollard was arrested in Victoria March 26 at the direction of Mrs. H. C. Bonds. Bonds and jewelry were found in his safety deposit vault.

The accusation confronting Scollard was said to be an aftermath to the disappearance of $80,000 in bonds when he was charged by his wife with the theft of $800,000 in bonds. A part of the securities was found in Vancouver in a safe deposit vault for days of search by police.

The Bellington woman and her husband later adjusted their difficulties, but recent occurrences caused Mrs. Scollard to lay another charge against her husband.

The couple were married in Chicago in 1917. Mrs. Scollard won the sobriquet of "Hetty Green" de LaSalle when she amassed a fortune in Chicago real estate. She inherited mining stock valued at more than $1,000,000 from her former husband, James E. Smith, who died 20 years ago.

EDISON BROTHERS WILL ESTABLISH
FOUR NEW STORES

A preferred stock issue of $750,000 of Edison Brothers, Inc., operators of a chain of ladies' shoe stores with headquarters in the south, will be offered to the public in several days, it was announced Wednesday in New York by the George H. Burr Company, financial agents.

The issue will be 7 per cent preferred stock.

Following completion of the stock issuance, the company will open four new stores immediately, in New Orleans, Tulsa, Okla., Oklahoma City, Okla., and Fort Worth, Texas. The chain of stores now numbers 20 shops and Atlanta officials of the company Wednesday night said plans already were under way for constant enlargement of the company.

no change in the management or control of the company, which now comprises Harry Edison, president and treasurer; Mark A. Edison, vice president; Irving Edison, vice president; Simon Edison, vice president, and Sam B. Edison, secretary.

The stock probably will be placed on the market Friday, it was stated.

THE RULES

1. THE MOVIETEST is open to all residents in the state of Georgia and adjoining states, namely, Alabama, Florida, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee, with the exception of employees of The Atlanta Constitution and members of their families, and also the winners of the three grand prizes in the previous Movietest Contest.
2. Starting March 21 and continuing each day for 30 days with the exception of Sundays, a cartoon suggesting or representing or in some way conveying the title of a motion picture will be published in The Atlanta Constitution.
3. Entrants in THE MOVIETEST will be required to correctly identify the title of the motion picture represented by each cartoon. The person or persons correctly identifying the 30 cartoons and otherwise conforming to all of the rules as published herein shall be eligible for first prize in whatever Prize List (either 1st or 2d), such contestant is competing. The person or persons submitting the next nearest correct solutions to the 30 cartoons shall be eligible to the additional prizes in the order of the correctness of their solutions, providing conformity is made to all of the rules of THE MOVIETEST.
4. The last of the 30 cartoons is scheduled for publication on April 24. All solutions accompanied by the subscription requirement must be delivered to the office of The Atlanta Constitution by midnight April 24, 1929, or mailed at any postoffice in Georgia or adjoining states, bearing postmark of no later date than April 24, 1929.
5. In case of ties, as many prizes will be reserved as there are people tied before any prizes are awarded for a less correct solution than is, if two or more people should tie in submitting the correct or nearest correct answers to the 30 cartoons, the first two or more prizes will be reserved for them, and the prizes will be awarded in order of the correctness of the answers of such contestants to a second series of 30 cartoons. If necessary to eliminate further ties as many as a third and fourth series of 30 cartoons each will be presented, after which, should any ties exist for any award each tying contestant will be given a duplicate prize.
6. To qualify for a prize in THE MOVIETEST, each contestant must qualify his set of 30 answers with either 2 or 4 new six-month subscriptions to The Atlanta Constitution. Contestants intending to qualify for a prize in the 1st Prize List will be required to submit four new six-month subscriptions; contestants intending to qualify for a prize in the 2d Prize List will be required to submit two new 6-month subscriptions.
7. In Atlanta and suburbs, and all towns outside of Atlanta where The Atlanta Constitution has carrier or dealer delivery, contestants will not be required to collect any money. In towns and on rural routes where The Constitution cannot be delivered by carrier or dealer, the paper will have to be sent by mail, and contestants will be required to collect $5.00 for each new 6-month subscription, remitted in the form of money order, check, or registered letter.
8. Any person upon entering THE MOVIETEST agrees to accept as final the decision of The Atlanta Constitution upon any or all questions that may be raised in the conduct of THE MOVIETEST and in the making of awards.
9. All answers, properly qualified as to the subscription requirement, must be either brought, or sent to The Movietest Editor, The Atlanta Constitution, on or before midnight April 24, 1929, or must bear a postmark not later than April 24.
10. For each additional new 6-months subscription over and above the requirement for each Prize List, a contestant is privileged to submit an additional set of 30 answers. In other words a contestant would be permitted to submit two sets of answers for the second Prize List if the answers were accompanied by three subscriptions, whereas, a contestant competing for a prize in the First Prize List would be required to submit five subscriptions in order to submit two sets of answers.
11. Any contestant is privileged to compete for an award in any one or both of the Prize Lists, and the contestant may win an award in each Prize List. However, no contestant can win more than one prize in any individual Prize List.
12. The result of the contest, together with the correct titles will be published in The Atlanta Constitution of Sunday, May 14. Any duly registered contestant, whose answers, properly qualified, were received on or before midnight April 24, is privileged to advance from, to, and in each Prize List provided such notice, in writing, is given The Atlanta Constitution on or before May 8.
13. A new subscriber is one who is not now taking the daily and Sunday Constitution in any form, has not done so within the past sixty days, and the subscription subscribed for is not to directly or indirectly take the place of The Constitution now being delivered to someone else either now or during the life of the contract. All contract subscribers must be financially responsible for the contract. All orders will be verified and subject to the acceptance of The Constitution. The price of the daily and Sunday delivered by carrier is 20c per week, or 90c per month, the carrier making the collections weekly or monthly, as may be agreed upon. Where the paper must go by mail, the rate is $5.00 for six months, paid in advance. The decision of The Atlanta Constitution with reference to the acceptance of the contract subscriptions must be considered final and conclusive, without argument, as well as all other matters pertaining to this contest; and participants, by sending in their answers or subscriptions, either or both, agree to accept the decision of the contest manager or The Atlanta Constitution as conclusive and final.

Sensitivity of Money

optimistic, reporting operations at peak levels in several centers, and through April, the most favorable development was a sharp reduction in freight car loadings for the week ending March 19.

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER, Associated Press Financial Writer.

New York, March 20.—(AP)—Extreme sensitivity of the call money market today, although industrial news in the main continued highly favorable, and pools were able to make substantial headway in the market, particularly the oils.

Call money renewed at 9 per cent and rose to 10, although calling of loans was nominal. Such scarcity of money, with slight withdrawals, caused considerable apprehension as to what would happen should banks or corporations find occasion to withdraw large sums.

It is feared that heavy calling of loans might result from higher federal reserve discount rates, and while the market is not yet in the New York rate tomorrow, reports emanating from Chicago banking circles had it that such a raise may be made.

Higher rates are expected to come. Wall Street would not be surprised to see them initiated at Chicago as the Chicago Reserve Bank's reserve had fallen to 10 per cent.

The copper market was again unsettled, with prices fluctuating about 1 cent. The price of copper was put the price up another cent to 25 cents a pound. Large producers, who had refused to follow this move, however, as reports were circulated that consumers here and abroad are considering the use of copper substitutes.

An important feature of the day's news was the final government 1928 cotton crop report, which was lower than expected, and which, however, brought up heavy profit-taking. The steel trade reports were again highly Atlanta.

There are many amusing moments and noteworthy characterizations in "This Thing Called Love," the initial production in the Fulwider-All Star Players' stock season at the Atlanta theater, but few if any more interesting than presented by Miss Sheila Trent, the fifteen-haired ingenue of the company, when she makes her first entrance and all but runs away from the show. As an actress of exceptional ability, Miss Trent proves herself by drawing out of a blandly and unconvincingly absurd role a study in character, that is not only convincing but also leaves a strong impression that behind the part in real life there is a very witty and charming personality. In her previous association with Fulwider-All, Miss Trent has established herself as a player of exceptional merit, and it is already apparent that in Atlanta she will most probably win a large and enthusiastic following.

Keith's Georgia.

The feature picture being served up at Keith's Georgia this week is "The Carnation Kid," starring Dick Sings. MacLean, MacLean plays the role of Clarence Kendall, a typewriter salesman, who is mistaken for a Chicago gangster by the name of "The Carnation Kid." As an added attraction the Georgia is presenting its first Octavus Roy Cohen talking comedy, "The Melancholy Dame." Then, of course, there is a diversified vaudeville bill on the stage.

Loew's Capitol.

Spooks and haunted houses, crooks and amateur detectives, provide plenty of thrills and laughter in the situations in "The Ghost Talks," at Loew's Capitol this week. A farce comedy of the broadest kind, the film story never loses sight of the elements of an underworld thriller. The stage bill, consisting of five acts of Loew vaudeville, is headlined by Milton Douglas and his orchestra.

Howard.

Dick Barthelmess is packing 'em in at the Howard this week with his first singing and talking opus, "Weary River." Opposite him is Betty Connor, who is likewise coming into her own for glory as the one who remained at home and was faithful while her lover, the young gangster, went up the river. Louie Low is hiding Atlanta away with the best show he has yet of.

Loew's Grand.

An alleged negro burglar caught last Wednesday night in a grocery store operated by Mrs. Paula Schacter, at 502 Auburn avenue, implicated three other negroes in the robbery of the store and told police that the three other negroes had fled with a quantity of tobacco, according to Call Officers Arthur Daily and H. C. Neff. The three other negroes were captured on a tip from a neighbor that they were being robbed, and said that they found the negro, who gave the name of John Levy, of Pittman place, crouching in the store. Levy is held on a blanket charge of suspicion.

Loew's Capitol.

About the same time Wednesday night, Patrolman J. D. Strubling reported that burglars had smashed the window of a cafe at 133 Forsyth, S. W., and had escaped with $15 from the cash register. The cafe is operated by E. Manley.

Loew's Capitol.

What is a man to do to differentiate himself from the vulgar herd who make pictures for a few hundred dollars a week, or act 10 or 12 laborious hours a day for the same puny sum?

Loew's Capitol.

The genuine man of affairs and money—no one generally implies the other, in Hollywood as in other places—has a more snobbish way of calling attention to his higher status. In some weird fashion he manipulates petty politics until he gets him immunity from speed laws. This is generally achieved by the addition of a siren on his motor. And a snuggles as he sounds it and dashes across just as his lesser brethren come to a dead halt when the stop light goes on.

Loew's Capitol.

You're right. I'd love to have one myself, but I'll have to wait until I'm a movie producer. In the meantime I'm just green with jealousy.

Loew's Capitol.

That funny puny on Wilshire Boulevard with the huge sign which resembles an overgrown Botticelli, and reads:

Loew's Capitol.

"Face Exchange—Leave your wrinkles and double chins with us." Delightful idea. Ladies re-mugged while they wait. I dare say all the customers are pleased. But only a very adventurous lady would dare to venture through those portals. The highly-colored goddess on the sign is prancing about a spring lamb. With a fresh new face beneath several pounds of blonde ma. In her hand she holds her old outworn face.

Loew's Capitol.

This, little children, is movieland. Where ladies re-face themselves with the nonchalance of desperation. Where 30s are a drug on the market. Where every movie centric hovers in exchanging a 40 for two 20s.

Loew's Capitol.

Conversation heard while parked before a bus stop—

Loew's Capitol.

"Lo."
 "How's make out?"
 "Well break—got a bit—"
 "Sure thing: gonna begin Monday. How about next tonight?"
 "Got any jack?"
 "Yep: Shorty loaned me a five when I showed him the goods."
 "Where's he got back?"
 "Copped pennies from the evening paper stands last night. Got a quarter on the cash register. A 4 and a 5."

Loew's Capitol.

With a great roar and screech the Metropolitan.

Bert Lyle, Gertrude Olmstead and Lilian Tashman are the leading players in "The Lone Wolf's Daughter," the talking picture story taken from the novel by Louis Joseph Vance. It is a very thrilling and entertaining story of this romantic figure of the underworld. Laurel and Hardy, too, comedy team, are seen in "Wrong Again," a fast moving and hilariously funny comedy. Dave Dreyer, former assistant to Al Jolson, is seen and heard in "Tin Pan Alley," a Vitaphone presentation.

Rialto.

The dramatic effectiveness of sound in picture production is again demonstrated in "Love in the Desert," a romantic tale of the Sahara, now showing at the Rialto theater. Olive Borden repeats her recent triumph in "Gang War" in the role of a half-caste Arab girl who is made the pawn in a struggle between opposing tribesmen. Hugh Trevor has the juvenile lead and Noah Beery plays the amorous villain.

Loew's Grand.

For the last three days of this week Loew's Grand is presenting "Alas Jimmy Valentine," perhaps the most dramatic crook picture ever produced in the films. The picture brings the powerful story out with tremendous emphasis.

Cameo.

"Synthetic Sin" Colleen Moore's new star picture showing today at the Cameo, is one of the most entertaining comedy pictures ever filmed, due largely to the clever work of vivacious Colleen in the stellar role. Antonio Moreno has the leading male role.

Alamo No. 2.

Al Christie's latest laugh special, "The Nervous Wreck," at the Alamo theater today, is based on the sensational stage play by Owen Davis. The picture version, directed by Scott Sidney, with Harrison Ford and Phyllis Haver heading a cast which includes among others, Margaret Mann, newly-discovered, is starred in the mother role while the four son roles are capably taken care of.

Empire.

"Four Sons," the thrilling epic by Fox films of a great mother love for four stalwart sons, is showing for the last time today at the Empire theater, corner Georgia avenue and Crew street. The picture tells the heart-tugging story of how the four sons are snatched away from the old mother, three by war and the fourth by immigration. Margaret Mann, newly-discovered, is starred in the mother role while the four son roles are capably taken care of.
